STEINJOHANN PASSED AWAY

While He Was Being Taken From the Train to the City
Hall.

CAKE FROM SOLDIERS' HOME

And Was Going to Make a Visit
With His Family In This
City

INVESTIGATION WILL BE MADE

George Steinjohann, known to almost every one in the city as George Boulton, died this morning while being conveyed from the Cleveland & Pittsburgh passenger station to city hall in the patrol.

The old gentleman had been an inmate of the Dayton Soldier's Home for several years, save for an occasional visit home, and on this last occasion had been at that institution since last March. Yesterday the family received a letter from him stating that he would arrive in this city at 8 o'clock this evening, but it is thought he changed his mind and started earlier.

The local ticket agent received a telegram from some point along the main line announcing that he was very ill on the east bound accommodation, and when the train arrived the ambulance was ready to convey him to his home. The information received by Chief Morley was from the Pennsylvania agent in this city and was to the effect merely that there was a sick soldier on the train, so that, although he was identified as soon as he got in, those in charge were at a loss to know where his family lived.

John Boulton, a son, was communicated with from city hall, where the body was brought, and soon afterward was given in charge of the undertaker. The remains were taken to the home of his wife in Dixonville, and the funeral will be held Friday afternoon, interment being held in Riverview cemetery, with Rev. G. W. Orcutt officiating.

Deceased was a resident of East Liverpool for many years, having come here shortly after returning from the United States navy, in which he served during the rebellion. He also served in the German navy. Deceased leaves a wife, four sons, Louis, John, Levi, Charles and two daughters, Gertrude and Ella, to mourn his death.

After coming to this county Steinjohann enlisted under Dupont and served during the rebellion on board the Wabash and the monitors. After the war he settled in Pennsylvania and later came to Ohio and located at West Point, from which place he came to this city. He secured employment at the Globe pottery and worked there until he left for the Soldier's Home.

The family of the deceased are inclined to believe there is something mysterious about his death and will make every effort to investigate.

A letter dated January 26 was received from him, in which he said he would be home on Wednesday evening and would draw his pension of $36 on Tuesday. When the body was searched but 75 cents was found, and the family do not think that the pension money was spent by Steinjohann.

Must Have Long Franchise.

U. J. Smith, the promoter of the proposed Salem and East Liverpool street railway, was in the city yesterday. The application of the company to the county commissioners is for a 50-year franchise, and it will no doubt be granted, as the line will not be built under a shorter franchise, as the cost per mile is too heavy. The people are willing if the line is only built.

STRANGE STORY FROM COLUMBUS

Speaks of the Millionaire Jury
Which Heard That Oleomar
garine Case Here.

SOMETHING OF A FAKE

The Story Says the Combined
Wealth of the Jury Aggregated Four Million.

JURORS WILL BE SURPRISED

The members of the jury that tried the oleomargarine case in this city will be considerably surprised to learn that they made up the wealthiest jury ever impaneled in Ohio, but there is a possibility that a story in the Ohio State Journal is wrong.

The story is headed, "Wealthiest Jury Ever Impaneled in Ohio Tries a Buttercup Case," and is as follows:

"Manager Pirring, of the Capital City Dairy company, has returned from East Liverpool, where he has been to look after a case in which Edwin Oppelt, a grocer, was arrested for selling colored oleomargarine.

"Mr. Pirring says that the jury in the case probably represented more combined wealth than any other ever impaneled in Ohio. The justice sent his constable out with orders to get a good jury, and he summoned all the big pottery manufacturers of the town.

"According to the ratings of the commercial agencies, the combined wealth of the men on the jury aggregated almost $4,000,000. Oppelt was acquitted."

This would only give to each juror something over $333,000 each, but it is not probable that each would have an equal share of the $4,000,000. The News Review would like the citizens to apportion the amount among the jurymen who tried the case. They are as follows:

Smith Fowler, J. J. Weisend, G. W. Allison, S. R. Dixon, William Kinney, John Kerr, John Rinehart, Matthew Anderson, M. H. Bough, S. C. Cartwright, J. E. Anderson and A. J. Moon.

The jurymen will probably be surprised that their combined wealth amounts to $4,000,000, and may begin to speculate as a result.

Settled the Case.

The case of Charles Green and Berg Goddard has been settled to the satisfaction of all but Goddard, who was not altogether pleased.

Green claimed that some money was due him for board, but Goddard claimed that he was doing some work for his board.

DAMAGE CASE

AGAINST GRIM AND JOHNSON
NOW OUT OF COURT.

Pearl Broome Filed it on the Grounds
That He Had Been Kept in Jail Too Long.

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—The $1,000 damage case brought by Pearl Broome against Arthur Grim, J. D. West, Smith Fowler, A. J. Johnson, E. J. Smith and S. M. Ferguson was dismissed from the file. Broome claimed damages by reason of having been detained in prison on February 18, 1899.

DIVORCE ACTIONS.

Both of Them Dismissed from Docket
for Want of Prosecution.

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Celia Dingledy, of Salem, was given an allowance of alimony against John Dingledy, of Youngstown, in the sum of $105 payable on February 1 and $30 each month. Dingledy was married to the plaintiff in 1888 in Youngstown and three children were born. Mrs. Dingledy claims that her husband has threatened to kill her on numerous occasions.

The defendant is a Youngstown hardware merchant and is said to be worth $40,000.

She Wants a Divorce.

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Elma I. Farmer, of Salem, wants a divorce from Cicero Farmer, to whom she was married in 1873. Mrs. Farmer claims that she always conducted herself as a faithful wife to the defendant, who has grossly neglected her during all of their married life.

MRS. DINCLADY.

The Judge Gives Her Alimony During the Time Her Divorce Action is Pending.

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—The divorce cases of Sarah Devine versus Peter Devine and Mary Culver vs. John B. Culver were each dismissed for want of prosecution.

The former couple came from East Liverpool and the separation asked after seven years of married life on grounds of drunkenness. The Culvers now live in Leetonia.

SOLD TOMORROW.

The Union Pottery Will be Offered at Public Sale at 10 o'clock
Tomorrow.

The Union pottery will be sold at 10 o'clock tomorrow. The representatives of the majority of the old stockholders will be there to bid, and it is likely they will compel whoever gets the property to pay a good price for it.

HAS HAD ENOUGH.

S. R. Fulks, Who Has Been in the Regular Army, Will Not Re-enlist.

S. R. Fulks, of Company F, Second U. S. regulars, who has been visiting George Switzer, of Jefferson street, leaves this evening for Toronto.

He has been discharged and will not re-enlist.

—T. B. Gotham left for Sebring this morning.

RALPH WOOLEY

TO GO TO WORKS

The Mayor Only Fined Him the Small Sum of $20 and Costs.

HE IS A VERY BAD BOY
And Has Annoyed the City Authorities on Several Other Occasions.

THE GRAND JURY WANTS HIM

Ralph Wooley, the 17-year-old boy who was arrested yesterday by Chief Thompson, is still in jail, and it is a question now as to whether he will go to Lisbon or to the work house.

Wooley has been in jail here three times, and has become a confirmed nuisance to the city authorities. Yesterday when he faced Mayor Davidson he was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to the Canton work house until his fine and costs are paid.

Later in the day he was served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury, which is now in session at Lisbon, in order that an effort might be made to find out where he procured his liquor. Wooley does not have the necessary cash to take him to Lisbon and the mayor is now waiting to find out what shall be done in the matter, and if the county will stand the expense of having to go before the grand jury.

If Wooley is taken to Lisbon he will still remain a prisoner and as soon as he tells what he knows to the grand jury he will be taken to the Canton work house to serve out his sentence. It will mean several months for him at hard labor, and it is hoped that before he returns he will have made up his mind to be good and behave himself.

FREE TO ALL.

Don't Fail to Hear Miss Charlotte E. Hawes at Second Presbyterian Church.

The lecture of Miss Charlotte E. Hawes in the Second Presbyterian church on Thursday evening, January 31, is free to all who may wish to come, and all are cordially invited to avail themselves of this opportunity. selling colored oleomargarine.

"Mr. Pirrung says that the jury in the case probably represented more combined wealth than any other ever impaneled in Ohio. The justice sent his constable out with orders to get a good jury, and he summoned all the big pottery manufacturers of the town.

"According to the ratings of the commercial agencies, the combined wealth of the men on the jury aggregated almost $4,000,000. Oppelt was acquitted."

This would only give to each jurymen something over $333,000 each, but it is not probable that each would have an equal share of the $4,000,000. The News Review would like the citizens to apportion the amount among the jurymen who tried the case. They are as follows:

Smith Fowler, J. J. Weisend, G. W. Allison, S. R. Dixon, William Kinney, John Kerr, John Rinehart, Matthew Anderson, M. H. Bough, S. C. Cartwright, J. E. Anderson and A. J. Moon.

The jurymen will probably be surprised that their combined wealth amounts to $4,000,000, and may begin to speculate as a result.

RALPH WOOLEY TO GO TO WORKS

The Mayor Only Fined Him the Small Sum of $20 and Costs.

HE IS A VERY BAD BOY
And Has Annoyed the City Authorities on Several Other Occasions.

THE GRAND JURY WANTS HIM

Ralph Wooley, the 17-year-old boy who was arrested yesterday by Chief Thompson, is still in jail, and it is a question now as to whether he will go to Lisbon or to the work house.

Wooley has been in jail here three times, and has become a confirmed nuisance to the city authorities. Yesterday when he faced Mayor Davidson he was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to the Canton work house until his fine and costs are paid.

Later in the day he was served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury, which is now in session at Lisbon, in order that an effort might be made to find out where he procured his liquor. Wooley does not have the necessary cash to take him to Lisbon and the mayor is now waiting to find out what shall be done in the matter, and if the county will stand the expense of having to go before the grand jury.

If Wooley is taken to Lisbon he will still remain a prisoner and as soon as he tells what he knows to the grand jury he will be taken to the Canton work house to serve out his sentence. It will mean several months for him at hard labor, and it is hoped that before he returns he will have made up his mind to be good and behave himself.

PULPIT AND PRESS WILL YET UNITE AGAINST DRINK TRAFFIC

Rev. W. H. Sniff, of Cleveland, Preached a Strong Sermon on "Battles For the Church Militant"

The following extract from a sermon on "Battles for the Church Militant," by Rev. W. H. Sniff, of the Franklin Circle Disciple church of Cleveland was printed in the Cleveland Leader and is well worth reading:

"The signs of the times point to a suppression of the legalized liquor traffic. The war cloud in that direction becomes every day more threatening. Judgment has begun at the house of God. The preacher or priest who is not himself a total abstainer from intoxicating drink and an unrelenting enemy of the gigantic evil is unworthy his position of leadership and traitor to Jesus Christ. He may boast of being in the succession, but he is a derelict or a coward. Because the church ought to be the friend of all good, and because the saloon is the ally of all evil, the two cannot remain in peace unless the church denies her Lord and covers her name with shame. The church militant is in the world to fight, not to feast, to cry out against wrong, not to cringe before it."

"There were never before so many encouragements for the cause of righteousness in this direction as now. Public sentiment is against the liquor traffic as never before. Regardless of past views and present party affiliations men are declaring themselves in favor of the suppression of this sum of all villainies. Never before in the history of this agitation has a prominent and powerful newspaper spoken out in editorial language so fearlessly and worthily as the Leader has recently done, and a moral obligation rests upon all true Christian people to give such an effort unqualified support. This worthy work on the part of the Leader is prophetic of a time when pulpit, platform and press shall unite in battle against the greatest foe of civilization. Philanthropist and patriot must declare war against the destroyer of manhood's strength and the despoiler of womanhood's happiness and virtue. Silence is connivance or cowardice. Indifference is culpable, if not criminal. Shall the church still wait, occupied and satisfied with her 'thumb-worn creeds,' her 'loud professions, and her little deeds,' while other agencies are espousing the cause of righteousness? I do not believe it. Without malice toward persons, without fear or compromise toward evil, let all good people engage in this irrepressible conflict until civilization shall be free from this monstrous iniquity."

"Closely related to the drink habit is another evil which must be dealt with in this country. There has been much preparation for the reform, but the agitation has been limited and spasmodic. We have scarcely chosen a point of attack. The evil lurks in dark places, or disguises itself in fine clothes and manners. It is widespread and treacherous. It concerns individual character and the sanctity of the joys and blessings of the home. It is the 'social evil' in the broadest application of that term. The evil is difficult to define, the remedy is clear. Equal standards of moral character for man and woman in all things must be demanded in order to the elevation of both man and woman. Heathenism presents few things more revolting than the double standard of virtue prevailing in civilized countries. Any defense of this condition of society is born of selfishness and lust. It is impossible to imagine the wretchedness which would characterize our people, except by contemplation of pagan lands, had we no higher standards of life and conduct for women than we now have for men. I deny the possible charge of being a pessimist. I rejoice in the purity of womanhood, and have faith in human nature and the triumph of virtue. But the disposition to insist upon one standard of behavior for the woman, while allowing a much lower standard for man, is to be denounced as unscriptural, selfish and heathenish. Only a depraved notion of virtue will excuse habits and conduct in men which would consign a woman to infamy. The world does not count it so great a crime for a man to rob a woman of her honor as for him to steal a garment of silk. For one act of shame a woman is ostracized, if not abandoned, while the man who was her companion in guilt continues to move in fashionable society, spared even a breath of suspicion. Young men make game of womanly virtue, become sleuth hounds of hell to hunt down their victims and decoy them with deceitful words of flattery, and are lionized by their associates and are received into the best of homes without restriction."

"Is the spirit of true chivalry dead? Are young men without honor? I appeal to all who thank God for pure mothers and wives and sisters to lift the standard of manhood. Let us unsparingly condemn these false ideas of manly virtue which make it easy for our boys to go wrong."

PULPIT AND PRESS WILL YET UNITE AGAINST DRINK TRAFFIC

Rev. W. H. Sniff, of Cleveland, Preached a Strong Sermon on "Battles For the Church Militant"

The following extract from a sermon on "Battles for the Church Militant," by Rev. W. H. Sniff, of the Franklin Circle Disciple church of Cleveland was printed in the Cleveland Leader and is well worth reading:

"The signs of the times point to a suppression of the legalized liquor traffic. The war cloud in that direction becomes every day more threatening. Judgment has begun at the house of God. The preacher or priest who is not himself a total abstainer from intoxicating drink and an unrelenting enemy of the gigantic evil is unworthy his position of leadership and traitor to Jesus Christ. He may boast of being in the succession, but he is a derelict or a coward. Because the church ought to be the friend of all good, and because the saloon is the ally of all evil, the two cannot remain in peace unless the church denies her Lord and covers her name with shame. The church militant is in the world to fight, not to feast, to cry out against wrong, not to cringe before it.

"There were never before so many encouragements for the cause of righteousness in this direction as now. Public sentiment is against the liquor traffic as never before. Regardless of past views and present party affiliations men are declaring themselves in favor of the suppression of this sum of all villainies. Never before in the history of this agitation has a prominent and powerful newspaper spoken out in editorial language so fearlessly and worthily as the Leader has recently done, and a moral obligation rests upon all true Christian people to give such an effort unqualified support.

This worthy work on the part of the Leader is prophetic of a time when pulpit, platform and press shall unite in battle against the greatest foe of civilization. Philanthropist and patriot must declare war against the destroyer of manhood's strength and the despoiler of womanhood's happiness and virtue. Silence is connivance or cowardice. Indifference is culpable, if not criminal. Shall the church still wait, occupied and satisfied with her 'thumb-worn creeds,' her 'loud professions, and her little deeds,' while other agencies are espousing the cause of righteousness? I do not believe it. Without malice toward persons, without fear or compromise toward evil, let all good people engage in this irrepressible conflict until civilization shall be free from this monstrous iniquity.

"Closely related to the drink habit is another evil which must be dealt with in this country. There has been much preparation for the reform, but the agitation has been limited and spasmodic. We have scarcely chosen a point of attack. The evil lurks in dark places, or disguises itself in fine clothes and manners. It is widespread and treacherous. It concerns individual character and the sanctity of the joys and blessings of the home. It is the 'social evil' in the broadest application of that term. The evil is difficult to define, the remedy is clear. Equal standards of moral character for man and woman in all things must be demanded in order to the elevation of both man and woman. Heathenism presents few things more revolting than the double standard of virtue prevailing in civilized countries. Any defense of this condition of society is born of selfishness and lust. It is impossible to imagine the wretchedness which would characterize our people, except by contemplation of pagan lands, had we no higher standards of life and conduct for women than we now have for men. I deny the possible charge of being a pessimist. I rejoice in the purity of womanhood, and have faith in human nature and the triumph of virtue. But the disposition to insist upon one standard of behavior for the woman, while allowing a much lower standard for man, is to be denounced as unscriptural, selfish and heathenish. Only a depraved notion of virtue will excuse habits and conduct in men which would consign a woman to infamy. The world does not count it so great a crime for a man to rob a woman of her honor as for him to steal a garment of silk. For one act of shame a woman is ostracized, if not abandoned, while the man who was her companion in guilt continues to move in fashionable society, spared even a breath of suspicion. Young men make game of womanly virtue, become sleuth hounds of hell to hunt down their victims and decoy them with deceitful words of flattery, and are lionized by their associates and are received into the best of homes without restriction.

"Is the spirit of true chivalry dead? Are young men without honor? I appeal to all who thank God for pure mothers and wives and sisters to lift the standard of manhood. Let us unspuriously condemn these false ideas of manly virtue which make it easy for our boys to go wrong."

ELK'S BENEFIT

"Arizona" Will be Presented at the Grand on the Evening of Feb. 7.

Local theater goers may now prepare themselves for a trip to Arizona without undergoing the tedium of a long and monotonous railroad journey, for the play of "Arizona" is soon to be presented here with all the atmosphere and virility of that great territory of the west. There is a wholesome pleasure in this stirring picture of life in the great Mojave country, where the soldier and ranchmen are the men who dominate, and where the women, if they know the dance, also know the saddle and the gun. However, not everything is rough in this west which Mr. Thomas introduces in "Arizona." If the men are given to the occasional use of vigorous language, as the men who fight the battles and make the empires and republic have been in every time, they have their gentler side—they have other traits of character. Henry Canby, proprietor of Canby's ranch, in the Aravaipa valley, states the whole case when he says:

"That's Arizona. We're a little shy on water, but there is as much charity for woman as you can round up in the gospel of St. John."

Editor News Review—Will you call the attention of the light committee to the fact that there are two lights between Pleasant and Eighth street (Carpenter's run road). We would be delighted were even one of these kept going. As it is, one (incandescent) has not been in use for months. The other, a gasoline, averages being lit say twice in seven nights. This is a dangerous strip and the city may have damages to pay one of these dark nights. Then possibly we may get two more lights, none of the four being lit.

EAST END.

A SURVEY

IS BEING MADE OF LAND IN EAST END.

The Purpose is to Fix Boundaries and New Line Fences Will be Built.

The engineering force which has been engaged for the past few days laying new lines on the farm of T. J. Andrews, upper East End, it is thought will complete their work today.

New boundaries are being fixed and when the work is completed new line fences will be built. A plan is also being formed which will fix the route of a new boulevard to join that contemplated by the parties in control of the new park. However, the main object in the survey is to satisfy the owners just where they stand, as it has been many years since the lines have been gone over. The farm is a valuable piece of property and it is probable that some time in the future it will be platted and the lots sold to those wishing to locate in that part of the city.

Danger of a Slip.

The Dixonville road is in a dangerous condition and when the first thaw comes, from the appearance of things just now, a slide will occur.

At the junction of that road and the new street being graded on the Smith property there has lately been deposited a large quantity of new ground, and it is likely a slip will occur when the frost is out of the ground.

Peculiarities of X Rays.

There are many curious things about X rays which seem to puzzle even the scientists. Signor Brugui, who has been making experiments with them in Rome, says that the visibility of a substance to the eye is no criterion of its visibility to the X rays. The rays cannot see through glass, which is transparent to the eye, whereas aluminum, which is opaque to the eye, is transparent to the X rays. The rays can see a splinter of glass in the hand, but not a splinter of wood. Most inks are transparent to the rays, including printer's ink, but some of them are opaque. The rays can see through a postoffice directory, but if a paper with words written on it be put in the middle of the directory the rays will reveal these words and nothing behind them.

Frequent Vaccination.

Although almost absolute immunity is secured for a period of six months by vaccination, there is no certainty that its effects will continue beyond that time. In the majority of cases it does, but the interval for which this additional benefit is enjoyed is variable. Hence those who have studied the matter most carefully recommend a fresh operation if more than six months have elapsed since the last one, if a person is liable to be subjected to peril, as in time of an epidemic.

Her Wedding "Tower."

An accommodation train on a distant railroad was dragging along, when a long, lean and sallow woman, in what appeared to be subdued bridal finery, leaned across the aisle of the car and said seriously to a lady sitting opposite her:

"Dear me! It's a kind of a solemn thing to be travelin' with two husbands, now, ain't it?"

"I do not know what you mean," replied the lady.

"Oh, mebbe not. Well, you see, my first husband died 'bout a year ago and was buried over in Patrick county, an last week I was married ag'in, an me an my second husband have been over in Patrick county on a little weddin tower, an I thought I'd kind of like to have my first husband buried in the graveyard nigh where I'm goin to live now, an my second husband was willin, so we tuk my first husband up, an he's in the baggage car along with our other things. My second husband is settin out on the platform takin a smoke, an I been settin here thinkin how solemn it is to go on a weddin tower with two husbands. It's a terrible solemn piece of bizness when you come to think of it."—Laurence Lee in Lippincott's Magazine.

Woman's Horror

Modest women dread to consult a doctor about diseases peculiar to their sex. They have a horror of private examinations and surgical operations. For this reason treatment of dangerous derangements is neglected. But the Wine of Cardui treatment, which can be adopted at home without the knowledge of any one but the patient herself, is now coming into general use. Women who take Wine of Cardui do not have to submit to a physician's local examination nor to a surgical operation. Wine of Cardui cures in the privacy of the home. No publicity, no cutting and torture and no physician or examination, while Wine of Cardui is quietly building up and strengthening the female organs. Menstruation is regulated, the drains of leucorrhœa stopped and the fallen womb restored to its place. The terrible pains which rack the body are but results of the ailments, which yield so readily to the soothing properties of Wine of Cardui. The medicine that cured Miss Garlen will certainly help you.

MELVILLE'S Wine of Cardui

Rockford, Tenn., Aug. 16, 1899.
I have suffered from womb trouble for five years. Last spring a year ago I was bedfast for six months. I paid $52 to one doctor, and he said he had done all he could for me. I had about given up, but called another doctor, who said I would have to have surgical treatment. I decided I might as well die a natural death as that. I happened to get hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and decided to try your treatment. In nine days after I commenced taking Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught I could walk across my room, and in three weeks I made myself dress. This was after my neighbors, and even my brothers and sisters, said I would never be any better. I am now in good health.

EAST END.

A SURVEY

IS BEING MADE OF LAND IN EAST END.

The Purpose is to Fix Boundaries and New Line Fences Will be Built.

The engineering force which has been engaged for the past few days laying new lines on the farm of T. J. Andrews, upper East End, it is thought will complete their work today.

New boundaries are being fixed and when the work is completed new line fences will be built. A plan is also being formed which will fix the route of a new boulevard to join that contemplated by the parties in control of the new park. However, the main object in the survey is to satisfy the owners just where they stand, as it has been many years since the lines have been gone over. The farm is a valuable piece of property and it is probable that some time in the future it will be platted and the lots sold to those wishing to locate in that part of the city.

Danger of a Slip.

The Dixonville road is in a dangerous condition and when the first thaw comes, from the appearance of things just now, a slide will occur.

At the junction of that road and the new street being graded on the Smith property there has lately been deposited a large quantity of new ground, and it is likely a slip will occur when the frost is out of the ground.

East End Society Notes.

Miss Alice Alabaugh, of Mulberry street, entertained a number of her young friends last evening.

Mrs. W. L. Wilson will entertain at her home on High street Friday afternoon.

Conductor William Boyce, who resides near Ralson's Crossing, is off duty suffering from neuralgia.

A Lecture.

The lecture to be given by Miss Charlotte Hawes at the Second Presbyterian church Thursday evening promises to be an enjoyable affair.

A Business Meeting.

The official board of the Second Methodist Episcopal church held a business meeting at the church last evening.

Peculiarities of X Rays.

There are many curious things about X rays which seem to puzzle even the scientists. Signor Brigitte, who has been making experiments with them in Rome, says that the visibility of a substance to the eye is no criterion of its visibility to the X rays. The rays cannot see through glass, which is transparent to the eye, whereas aluminum, which is opaque to the eye, is transparent to the X rays. The rays can see a splinter of glass in the hand, but not a splinter of wood. Most inks are transparent to the rays, including printer's ink, but some of them are opaque. The rays can see through a postoffice directory, but if a paper with words written on it be put in the middle of the directory the rays will reveal these words and nothing behind them.

Frequent Vaccination.

Although almost absolute immunity is secured for a period of six months by vaccination, there is no certainty that its effects will continue beyond that time. In the majority of cases it does, but the interval for which this additional benefit is enjoyed is variable. Hence those who have studied the matter most carefully recommend a fresh operation if more than six months have elapsed since the last one, if a person is liable to be subjected to peril, as in time of an epidemic.

Her Wedding "Tower."

An accommodation train on a distant railroad was dragging along, when a long, lean and sallow woman, in what appeared to be subdued bridal finery, leaned across the aisle of the car and said seriously to a lady sitting opposite her:

"Dear me! It's a kind of a solemn thing to be travellin' with two husbands, now, ain't it?"

"I do not know what you mean," replied the lady.

"Oh, mebbe not. Well, you see, my first husband died 'bout a year ago an was buried over in Patrick county, an last week I was married ag'in, an me an my second husband have been over in Patrick county on a little weddin' tower, an I thought I'd kind of like to have my first husband buried in the graveyard nigh where I'm goin to live now, an my second husband was willin', so we tuk my first husband up, an he's in the baggage car along with our other things. My second husband is settin' out on the platform takin' a smoke, an I been settin' here thinkin' how solemn it is to go on a weddin' tower with two husbands. It's a terrible solemn piece of bizness when you come to think of it!"—Laurence Lee in Lippincott's Magazine.

Prussian blue does not come to us from Prussia. It is a chemical product of which England makes her full share. Irish stew is not an Irish, but an English dish, and Turkish baths did not originate in Turkey, but in Russia.

Woman's Horror

Modest women dread to consult a doctor about diseases peculiar to their sex. They have a horror of private examinations and surgical operations. For this reason treatment of dangerous derangements is neglected. But the Wine of Cardui treatment, which can be adopted at home without the knowledge of any one but the patient herself, is now coming into general use. Women who take Wine of Cardui do not have to submit to a physician's local examination nor to a surgical operation. Wine of Cardui cures in the privacy of the home. No publicity, no cutting and torture and no physician or examination, while Wine of Cardui is quietly building up and strengthening the female organs. Menstruation is regulated, the drains of leucorrhœa stopped and the fallen womb restored to its place. The terrible pains which rack the body are but results of the ailments, which yield so readily to the soothing properties of Wine of Cardui. The medicine that cured Miss Garlen will certainly help you.

McELROY'S Wine of Cardui

Rockford, Tenn., Aug. 16, 1890.
I have suffered from womb trouble for five years. Last spring a year ago I was bedfast for six months. I paid $50 to one doctor, and he said he had done all he could for me. I had given up, but called another doctor, who said I would have to have surgical treatment. I decided I might as well die a natural death as that. I happened to get hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and decided to try your treatment. In nine days after I commenced taking Wine of Cardui and Black Draught I could walk across my room, and in three weeks I made myself a dress. This was after my neighbors, and even my brothers and sisters, said I would never be any better. I am now in good health.

Miss S. E. GARLEN.

BROADWAY.

The youngsters were having a grand time coasting on Broadway this afternoon, and seemed to be as happy as mortals can be. One lad had a sled whose runners were made of four skates, and he was strictly in the swim or glide. The boys did their best to avoid any trouble with vehicles or horsemen, and acted like good little men.

PAY YOUR DEBTS.

A good and true man will always attempt to do this, even if he accomplishes the desired end but very slowly, making small payments at stated intervals. The average business man will not only accept these small payments when he understands the situation, but will admire and trust and aid the man whom he thus ascertains is square and true and honest.

PRIZE FIGHTERS.

Down at Cincinnati the conservative and law abiding element are doing fierce battle against prize fighters and prize fighting, with the promise of success. Up in Pittsburg they have just pulled off a fierce prize fight, where blood flowed freely and the toughs were in their glory. The only difference is in the two states, and the fact that two of the bruisers are heavy weights and the other two light weights.

OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

We have a very fair representation of the average school children of the United States now on duty at our Fourth street school building. Professor Rayman can rejoice in the fact that, while they are full of life and spirit and fun, the large majority of them show, by their conduct, that they are not animated by a spirit of malice or wickedness. The writer enjoys immensely their antics and cute sayings, as he passes the building to and fro, en route for meals or for office. Let the youngsters have all the innocent enjoyment they possibly can. The cares and sorrows and troubles of life will come all too soon.

HOLINESS MEN.

Talking over the matter of holiness, or sanctification, we made the remark the other day, to a well-known professor of the faith: "We met two holiness men today, and they were having a hot word fight or controversy." The professor made reply: "Oh, no you didn't; such a thing is an impossibility; fighting of that class and holiness do not dwell together; holiness and peace dwell together; the fighting element you speak of was an intruder; and in case the said men were doing battle in an unseemly quarrel, or in bickering and strife, they had, at least temporarily, fallen from grace, and they certainly need a fresh dip or a new application of the spirit of brotherly love."

THE DEAD BEAT.

We have a few of him in East Liverpool, in common with all industrial centers of like size and population. But the most contemptible shyster in this class is the fellow who beats his board bill and room rent, and usually seeks as his victim a widow woman who is battling to make a bare living by thus catering to the public. A widow woman of this city entered the News Review office last night and made complaint of this character against a fellow whom she claims owes her quite a nice little sum for room rent, and makes no apparent effort to meet the obligation. She further asserts that he has been playing his little game with other parties in this city, moving from place to place, apparently living up to the axiom that "it is cheaper to move than to pay rent." The widow in question is a true lady, and her word can be relied upon. She states that, in consequence of this fellow's rascality, she has been unable to meet her rent this month in full, and so informed her landlord, and the latter has promised to make it warm for this particular dead beat, as he knows him well, and is aware of the fact that he makes great pretensions along the line of honor and honesty. The lady has been advised to sue the fellow, and bring him into open court, where full testimony can be taken and his name given to the public, in order that others may not be defrauded and that the shyster will be compelled to pay his indebtedness in the future. We await developments.

Death of A. G. Webster.

THE TRUTH

In Regard to the Recent Trouble at the Bell School House.

On last Monday Oscar Birch withdrew his suit in Squire Davis' court against Thomas Croft, teacher at the Bell school, and paid the costs in the case.

The trouble as it now appears was originated by the St. Clair township school board.

Said honorable board refused to hire the teacher, Thomas Crofts, for the spring term, because of the misrepresentations of a few chronic grumblers and kickers, notwithstanding the fact that Crofts was unanimously supported by the local district board.

Encouraged by this Oscar Birch and his four sons undertook to run the teacher out. On Monday of last week Viro, the youngest boy, was told at recess to remain in to be corrected for viciously throwing a large clinker at the teacher. The other three boys also remained, showing a disposition to make trouble, one of them carrying a revolver. On being ordered out, two of them went, one remaining with Viro. The door was then locked. The two boys having armed themselves with the poker, shovel and broom, they made at the teacher. To scare them Crofts took up a hatchet kept there for cutting wood, having also a light switch in his hand for chastising the younger boy. The boys being alarmed at this dropped the poker and shovel and started to run. The teacher thereupon laid down the hatchet and started to chastise Viro, upon which the older boy again took up the poker and shovel and threw them at Crofts, the shovel striking his brother Viro on the head and making a bad cut. Seeing this Crofts released the boy, unlocked the door and told them to go.

The Birches charge that the cut was made with the hatchet, on which ground Birch brought suit against Crofts.

WONDERFUL MEETINGS

The Revival Services Still Continue at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

The pastor, Dr. Clark Crawford, had charge of the services last night. The meeting was a delight to Christian men and women. Testimonials as to the happiness of individuals engaged in the service of the Master were first on the program, old folks, middle aged folks and young folks adding their tribute to the efficiency of the blood of the Son of God. The pastor then made a brief but impressive exhortation, after which seekers for salvation from their sins were invited to the mercy seat.

A notable feature of last night's services rested in the fact that while there were but six seekers forward, five of the six were men, four of the number in the full vigor of a bright and promising young manhood, while one, the fifth seeker, is between sixty and seventy years of age. Absolutely intense interest was manifested all through this meeting. There was no great amount of noise or enthusiasm; but each one participating at the altar, as helpers or seekers, seemed weighted down with the fact that the occasion was one of the deepest responsibility and impressiveness. This fact was afterward confirmed in conversation with working members of the church.

The meetings will be continued indefinitely. Services tonight, at the usual hour. Pastor and people extend to you a hearty invitation to take part. "Come, and we will do thee good."

BROADWAY.

The youngsters were having a grand time coasting on Broadway this afternoon, and seemed to be as happy as mortals can be. One lad had a sled whose runners were made of four skates, and he was strictly in the swim or glide. The boys did their best to avoid any trouble with vehicles or horsemen, and acted like good little men.

PAY YOUR DEBTS.

A good and true man will always attempt to do this, even if he accomplishes the desired end but very slowly, making small payments at stated intervals. The average business man will not only accept these small payments when he understands the situation, but will admire and trust and aid the man whom he thus ascertains is square and true and honest.

PRIZE FIGHTERS.

Down at Cincinnati the conservative and law abiding element are doing fierce battle against prize fighters and prize fighting, with the promise of success. Up in Pittsburg they have just pulled off a fierce prize fight, where blood flowed freely and the toughs were in their glory. The only difference is in the two states, and the fact that two of the bruisers are heavy weights and the other two light weights.

OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

We have a very fair representation of the average school children of the United States now on duty at our Fourth street school building. Professor Rayman can rejoice in the fact that, while they are full of life and spirit and fun, the large majority of them show, by their conduct, that they are not animated by a spirit of malice or wickedness. The writer enjoys immensely their antics and cute sayings, as he passes the building to and fro, en route for meals or for office. Let the youngsters have all the innocent enjoyment they possibly can. The cares and sorrows and troubles of life will come all too soon.

HOLINESS MEN.

Talking over the matter of holiness, or sanctification, we made the remark the other day, to a well-known professor of the faith: "We met two holiness men today, and they were having a hot word fight or controversy." The professor made reply: "Oh, no you didn't; such a thing is an impossibility; fighting of that class and holiness do not dwell together; holiness and peace dwell together; the fighting element you speak of was an intruder; and in case the said men were doing battle in an unseemly quarrel, or in bickering and strife, they had, at least temporarily, fallen from grace, and they certainly need a fresh dip or a new application of the spirit of brotherly love."

THE DEAD BEAT.

We have a few of him in East Liverpool, in common with all industrial centers of like size and population. But the most contemptible shyster in this class is the fellow who beats his board bill and room rent, and usually seeks as his victim a widow woman who is battling to make a bare living by thus catering to the public. A widow woman of this city entered the News Review office last night and made complaint of this character against a fellow whom she claims owes her quite a nice little sum for room rent, and makes no apparent effort to meet the obligation. She further asserts that he has been playing his little game with other parties in this city, moving from place to place, apparently living up to the axiom that "it is cheaper to move than to pay rent." The widow in question is a true lady, and her word can be relied upon. She states that, in consequence of this fellow's rascality, she has been unable to meet her rent this month in full, and so informed her landlord, and the latter has promised to make it warm for this particular dead beat, as he knows him well, and is aware of the fact that he makes great pretensions along the line of honor and honesty. The lady has been advised to sue the fellow, and bring him into open court, where full testimony can be taken and his name given to the public, in order that others may not be defrauded and that the shyster will be compelled to pay his indebtedness in the future. We await developments.

Death of A. G. Webster.

A. G. Webster, of 242 Sugar street, died last night about 11 o'clock of typhoid fever. Mr. Webster was born in Derbyshire, England, sixty-nine years ago. He came to East Liverpool in 1844.

Deceased has been a member of the Odd Fellows lodge for 39 years.

Rev. Edwin Weary, of the St. Stephen's Episcopal church, will conduct the services, which will be in charge of the Odd Fellows. He will be buried from the home of his sister, Mrs. Emma Croxall, 242 Sugar street, at 1:30 p. m. Thursday.

THE TRUTH

In Regard to the Recent Trouble at the Bell School House.

On last Monday Oscar Birch withdrew his suit in Squire Davis' court against Thomas Croft, teacher at the Bell school, and paid the costs in the case.

The trouble as it now appears was originated by the St. Clair township school board.

Said honorable board refused to hire the teacher, Thomas Crofts, for the spring term, because of the misrepresentations of a few chronic grumblers and kickers, notwithstanding the fact that Crofts was unanimously supported by the local district board.

Encouraged by this Oscar Birch and his four sons undertook to run the teacher out. On Monday of last week Viro, the youngest boy, was told at recess to remain in to be corrected for viciously throwing a large clinker at the teacher. The other three boys also remained, showing a disposition to make trouble, one of them carrying a revolver. On being ordered out, two of them went, one remaining with Viro. The door was then locked. The two boys having armed themselves with the poker, shovel and broom, they made at the teacher. To scare them Crofts took up a hatchet kept there for cutting wood, having also a light switch in his hand for chastising the younger boy. The boys being alarmed at this dropped the poker and shovel and started to run. The teacher thereupon laid down the hatchet and started to chastise Viro, upon which the older boy again took up the poker and shovel and threw them at Crofts, the shovel striking his brother Viro on the head and making a bad cut. Seeing this Crofts released the boy, unlocked the door and told them to go.

The Birches charge that the cut was made with the hatchet, on which ground Birch brought suit against Crofts.

WONDERFUL MEETINGS

The Revival Services Still Continue at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

The pastor, Dr. Clark Crawford, had charge of the services last night. The meeting was a delight to Christian men and women. Testimonials as to the happiness of individuals engaged in the service of the Master were first on the program, old folks, middle aged folks and young folks adding their tribute to the efficiency of the blood of the Son of God. The pastor then made a brief but impressive exhortation, after which seekers for salvation from their sins were invited to the mercy seat.

A notable feature of last night's services rested in the fact that while there were but six seekers forward, five of the six were men, four of the number in the full vigor of a bright and promising young manhood, while one, the fifth seeker, is between sixty and seventy years of age. Absolutely intense interest was manifested all through this meeting. There was no great amount of noise or enthusiasm; but each one participating at the altar, as helpers or seekers, seemed weighted down with the fact that the occasion was one of the deepest responsibility and impressiveness. This fact was afterward confirmed in conversation with working members of the church.

The meetings will be continued indefinitely. Services tonight, at the usual hour. Pastor and people extend to you a hearty invitation to take part. "Come, and we will do thee good."

THE JURY HAS BEEN EXCUSED

But the Jurymen Are Expected to Report at Lisbon on Feb. 6.

COURT HAS ALSO ADJOURNED

In Order to Permit Members of the Bar to Attend John Marshall's Banquet.

A CIRCUIT COURT CASE SETTLED

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Court adjourned last evening until the morning of Wednesday, February 6, to which time the jury has been excused. The adjournment during the early part of next week is owing to the John Marshall banquet at Columbus, which will be attended by a large number of the county attorneys.

The petit jury was empanelled Tuesday afternoon to find in the case of Annie Reed against W. M. Calhoun, executor of the estate of the late Thomas Smith, of East Liverpool. The deceased left a will bequeathing certain farm lands to the plaintiff and she brought the suit, claiming that certain lines had been inserted in the will which affected her rights. The jury returned a verdict in her favor, finding that the paper was the last will and testament of the deceased, but that the same was materially altered after the testator's signature was affixed. The will leaves to the plaintiff 200 acres of land on which she now retires. The jury found that the words interlined in the will are null and void and of no effect.

A FAMOUS BANK NOTE.

The One That Cruikshank Drew and the Crowd It Drew.

One day about the year 1818 George Cruikshank was passing Newgate on his way to the exchange, when, seeing a crowd collected, he went forward to learn what was the matter and saw that it was the execution of several men and women. He was horrified at the spectacle and on inquiring learned that the woman was being hanged for passing counterfeit £1 notes. He learned also that this punishment was quite a common thing, even though the poor wretches often sinned ignorance, being the dupes of men who sent them to buy some trifles and return the change to them. Wrung with pity and with shame, Cruikshank went home and immediately, under the inspiration of his feeling, sketched a grotesque caricature of a bank note. He called it a bank restriction note—not to be imitated. He represented on it a place of execution, with spaces about filled in with halters and manacles, a figure of Britannia devouring her children and transport ships bearing the lucky or unlucky ones who had escaped death to Van Diemen's Land or Australia, while in place of the well known signature of Abraham Newland was that of "J. Ketch."

He had just finished this, when his publisher Hone entered, and seeing it, begged to have it for publication. So Cruikshank etched it and gave it to Hone, who exhibited it for sale in his window with startling effect. Crowds quickly began to gather and purchased so eagerly that the issue was soon exhausted.

Cruikshank was kept hard at work making more etchings, the crowds grew so great that the street was blocked, and the mayor had to send soldiers to clear it. Hone realized over £700 in a few days.—Good Words.

BRITISH BANK CLERKS.

Sumptuary Laws Trying on Those With Slim Purse.

Bank clerks generally look so sleek and comfortable and are almost invariably so well groomed that their grievances rarely receive patient hearing.

One who was recently dismissed for the terrible crime of smoking a pipe in a city cafe during one of the hours sacred to what is called by city courtesy lunch writes, giving a list of restrictions which he declares are absurd.

No clerk is allowed to smoke a pipe in the streets during banking hours or at lunch.

The average clerk's salary is not so very high, but nevertheless he must wear a silk hat and cane to the office, dressed as one with double the salary. Wearing a cap to business is not to be thought of, as it is an unpardonable offense in the eyes of the bank officials.

The salary of the average bank clerk ranges from about 38 shillings a week, but in many banks the salary is much lower and the chances of promotion very small.

A clerk's money is greatly diminished by his having to subscribe to numerous funds, such as a "sports" fund, to keep the cricket or football grounds in order, which he himself is never able to see.

Saturday is no holiday for him, as he does not leave the office on those days until about 4 or 5 o'clock.

It must not be supposed that the day's work of a bank clerk ends with the closing of the bank to customers. In fact, it only begins at that time.—London Express.

Why Cables Get Tired.

There has been some question, says The Electrical Engineer, as to the reason why certain cables lose their conducting properties and have in some instances to be replaced. A learned Frenchman has submitted a paper on the subject to the Academie des Sciences. In this paper he states that when cables lose their electrical properties it is because they are always used for one kind of current only, either positive or negative. If used sometimes for positive and sometimes for negative, they will, he states, preserve their conductive qualities indefinitely. Experiments with nine wires running from Paris to Dijon demonstrated this, he says.

The double letter is scarcely of use in any language. Sometimes we are purely inconsistent. Letter must have two t's, literal one. The double letter very seldom affects the pronunciation. Would it not be well to drop the double letter altogether? It would simplify spelling and save time too.

A Famous English Family That Perished by Fire and Water.

The attempt of the Midhurst district council to convert the famous "Close Walks"—four old yew avenues—at Cowdray, in Sussex, into an arrangement of sewage tanks recalls a creepy story of a fulfilled curse. At the dissolution of the monasteries Sir Anthony Browne obtained grant of Battle Abbey and the priory of Eastbourne, the parish in which the ruins of Cowdray are situated, and according to a picturesque tradition one of the monks cursed him to his face and prophesied that "by fire and water" his race should perish out of the land. What foundation there may be for the story no man can say, but unquestionably the Brownes did so perish.

George Samuel Browne, eighth Viscount Montague and owner of Cowdray, who was engaged to Miss Coutts, sister to Lady Burdett-Coutts' mother, was drowned in the falls of Laufenburg in 1793. The messenger who brought the news to England met one going to Germany to inform Lord Montague that Cowdray had been burned! He was succeeded by a distant relative, a Roman priest, who was dispensed from his vows that he might marry and continue the line, but he died a few months afterward and the title became extinct. The estates went to the drowned viscount's sister, whose two sons were drowned together at Bognor in 1815. It is a weird story.—London Chronicle.

A CIRCUIT COURT CASE SETTLED

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Court adjourned last evening until the morning of Wednesday, February 6, to which time the jury has been excused. The adjournment during the early part of next week is owing to the John Marshall banquet at Columbus, which will be attended by a large number of the county attorneys.

The petit jury was empanelled Tuesday afternoon to find in the case of Annie Reed against W. M. Calhoun, executor of the estate of the late Thomas Smith, of East Liverpool. The deceased left a will bequeathing certain farm lands to the plaintiff and she brought the suit, claiming that certain lines had been inserted in the will which affected her rights. The jury returned a verdict in her favor, finding that the paper was the last will and testament of the deceased, but that the same was materially altered after the testator's signature was affixed. The will leaves to the plaintiff 200 acres of land on which she now resides. The jury found that the words interlined in the will are null and void and of no effect.

A FAMOUS BANK NOTE.

The One That Cruikshank Drew and the Crowd It Drew.

One day about the year 1818 George Cruikshank was passing Newgate on his way to the exchange, when, seeing a crowd collected, he went forward to learn what was the matter and saw that it was the execution of several men and women. He was horrified at the spectacle and on inquiring learned that the woman was being hanged for passing counterfeit £1 notes. He learned also that this punishment was quite a common thing, even though the poor wretches often sinned in ignorance, being the dupes of men who sent them to buy some trifles and return the change to them. Wrung with pity and with shame, Cruikshank went home and immediately, under the inspiration of his feeling, sketched a grotesque caricature of a bank note. He called it a bank restriction note—not to be imitated. He represented on it a place of execution, with spaces about filled in with halters and manacles, a figure of Britannia devouring her children and transport ships bearing the lucky or unlucky ones who had escaped death to Van Diemen's Land or Australia, while in place of the well known signature of Abraham Newland was that of "J. Ketch."

He had just finished this, when his publisher Hone entered, and seeing it, begged to have it for publication. So Cruikshank etched it and gave it to Hone, who exhibited it for sale in his window with startling effect. Crowds quickly began to gather and purchased so eagerly that the issue was soon exhausted.

Cruikshank was kept hard at work making more etchings, the crowds grew so great that the street was blocked, and the mayor had to send soldiers to clear it. Hone realized over £700 in a few days.—Good Words.

BRITISH BANK CLERKS.

Sumptuary Laws Trying on Those With Slim Purse.

Bank clerks generally look so sleek and comfortable and are almost invariably so well groomed that their grievances rarely receive patient hearing.

One who was recently dismissed for the terrible crime of smoking a pipe in a city cafe during one of the hours sacred to what is called by city courtesy lunch writes, giving a list of restrictions which he declares are absurd.

No clerk is allowed to smoke a pipe in the streets during banking hours or at lunch.

The average clerk's salary is not so very high, but nevertheless he must wear a silk hat and cane to the office, dressed as one with double the salary. Wearing a cap to business is not to be thought of, as it is an unpardonable offense in the eyes of the bank officials.

The salary of the average bank clerk ranges from about 38 shillings a week, but in many banks the salary is much lower and the chances of promotion very small.

A clerk's money is greatly diminished by his having to subscribe to numerous funds, such as a "sports" fund, to keep the cricket or football grounds in order, which he himself is never able to see.

Saturday is no holiday for him, as he does not leave the office on those days until about 4 or 5 o'clock.

It must not be supposed that the day's work of a bank clerk ends with the closing of the bank to customers. In fact, it only begins at that time.—London Express.

Why Cables Get Tired.

There has been some question, says The Electrical Engineer, as to the reason why certain cables lose their conducting properties and have in some instances to be replaced. A learned Frenchman has submitted a paper on the subject to the Academie des Sciences. In this paper he states that when cables lose their electrical properties it is because they are always used for one kind of current only, either positive or negative. If used sometimes for positive and sometimes for negative, they will, he states, preserve their conductive qualities indefinitely. Experiments with nine wires running from Paris to Dijon demonstrated this, he says.

The double letter is scarcely of use in any language. Sometimes we are purely inconsistent. Letter must have two 't's, literal one. The double letter very seldom affects the pronunciation. Would it not be well to drop the double letter altogether? It would simplify spelling and save time too.

AN ENDURING CURSE.

A Famous English Family That Perished by Fire and Water.

The attempt of the Midhurst district council to convert the famous "Close Walks"—four old yew avenues—at Cowdray, in Sussex, into an arrangement of sewage tanks recalls a creepy story of a fulfilled curse. At the dissolution of the monasteries Sir Anthony Browne obtained a grant of Battle Abbey and the priory of Eastbourne, the parish in which the ruins of Cowdray are situated, and according to a picturesque tradition one of the monks cursed him to his face and prophesied that "by fire and water" his race should perish out of the land. What foundation there may be for the story no man can say, but unquestionably the Brownes did so perish.

George Samuel Browne, eighth Viscount Mountague and owner of Cowdray, who was engaged to Miss Coutts, sister to Lady Burdett-Coutts' mother, was drowned in the falls of Laufenburg in 1793. The messenger who brought the news to England met one going to Germany to inform Lord Mountague that Cowdray had been burned!

He was succeeded by a distant relative, a Roman priest, who was dispensed from his vows that he might marry and continue the line, but he died a few months afterward and the title became extinct. The estates went to the drowned viscount's sister, whose two sons were drowned together at Bognor in 1815. It is a weird story.—London Chronicle.

Conditional Arrangements to Honor Dead Queen.

KING MAY LOOK OVER PLANS TODAY

He Arrived at the Capital City, and Is to Consider Proposed Details of the Pageant—Naval Preparations Great—Archbishop to Prepare Memorial Service.

The Duke of Cornwall and York had been confined to his room since Thursday. It was feared, on Tuesday, he would be unable to take part in the ceremonies on Friday.

The only American wreath which has arrived at Osborne so far is one from Mrs. Sidney Everett, of Boston, who is staying on the Isle of Wight. It is inscribed:

"In token of lifelong veneration and reverence."

The outer coffin arrived Monday night. The non-commissioned officers detailed to carry the coffin rehearsed Monday with a dummy coffin filled with sand and weighing over half a ton.

Crown Prince Frederick, of Denmark, is expected to arrive in London today.

German Ships Sailed.

Prince Henry of Prussia sailed from Kiel Monday on board the German battleship Baden, accompanied by the coast defense ship Hagen.

Prince George of Saxony is prevented by influenza from coming to the funeral. Prince John George will take his place.

Duke Albrecht will represent the king of Wurtemburg.

The Crown Prince Ferdinand of Roumania is expected Thursday night in London.

The Orleans family will be represented by the Duke of Chartres, younger brother of the late Count of Paris; the Duke of Alencon and the Count of Eu, sons of the late Duke of Nemours, between whom and the late queen, in 1838, Louise Philippe tried to arrange a marriage.

The coffin will be borne from Osborne house by the queen's Highlanders, Friday, about 1:45 p. m., to a gun carriage. The household of the late queen, the royal servants and the tenantry, will be drawn up on the carriage drive. The queen's pipers will lead the procession through the king's gate to Trinity pier. There will be an imposing military display along the route, massed bands and drummers playing funeral marches.

Behind the coffin will walk Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, first and principal aide de camp to the queen since 1839; the king, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, the Duke of York, Prince Henry of Prussia, Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, and other princes. Then will come Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of York and other princesses.

Blue jackets will bear the coffin from the pier to the royal yacht Alberta, where Admiral Culme-Seymour, four naval aides de camp and two ladies in waiting will accompany the remains.

Will Accompany Body on Yacht.

The king, queen, Emperor William and other members of the royal family will embark on board the royal yacht Victoria and Alberta.

London, Jan. 30.—King Edward and the Duke of Cambridge arrived in London. A large crowd welcomed the king at Victoria station.

Tuesday there was a rehearsal along the route of the funeral procession. The eight Hanoverian horses which will draw the gun carriage took a heavily laden brake, estimated to be the weight of the gun carriage and coffin, over the route. Numerous carriages followed and a number of mounted men, representing the foreign princes and others who will ride in the procession.

It has been arranged that the Eton boys will line the route from the Long Walk gates to Windsor castle, while the military knights of Windsor will be on duty in the chapel during the funeral services.

It was understood the funeral in London may be approximately about as follows:

A sovereign's escort of 100 life guards, the massed bands of three regiments of foot guards, Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters staff, an army gun carriage with the body, the king, supported by the German emperor; the king of Portugal, and the other reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence; the Dukes of Connaught and York, the equestrians and aids de camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and other royal princesses, in four carriages, deeply draped, and in the rear of the procession, another sovereign's escort of 100 life guards. It is estimated that 60 royal princes will participate in the procession.

As the funeral will be of a military character there probably will be no pallbearers, although, possibly, at Windsor certain generals will act in this capacity while the coffin is being carried up the nave of St. George's chapel.

For the first time since his accession the king's train Tuesday was preceded by a pilot engine. His majesty was vociferously cheered on his way to Marlborough house.

Special Memorial Service Ordered.

The privy council ordered the archbishop of Canterbury to prepare a special form of service, in commemoration of the queen, to be used in all churches in the kingdom Saturday.

The Duke and Duchess of Aosta will arrive here Jan. 31.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was among the king's visitors this afternoon.

The malady from which the Duke of Cornwall and York is suffering is the German measles.

Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was taken down with the measles about 10 days ago.

In London active preparations were being made all along the route. Houses are being draped and seating accommodation is being provided. A committee of ladies has obtained permission to hang wreaths of evergreen along the line, one to be affixed to each lamp post, and all being three feet in diameter and of uniform pattern.

Of all the ceremonies no doubt the naval likely will be a fine pageant. According to the arrangements, the Alberta, with the body, will slowly steam along a line of battleships extending about eight miles. Facing these giants of the British navy will be smaller vessels and some foreign guns of the ships will be fired as the yacht bearing the body traverses the distance through the lines of ships.

King Edward received Lord Salisbury and several other members of the cabinet Tuesday at Marlborough house. He will hold a privy council at St. James palace today to sanction finally the arrangements for the funeral and then will return immediately to Osborne.

The wreath sent by the King of Portugal was so large that it could not be placed in the Chapel Ardent. It is in the form of a cushion of violets, supporting a cross surmounted by a crown of lilies of the valley.

The Mikado wired such imperative orders to the Japanese legation for the presence of a Japanese warship at the naval display that the battleship Hatsuse, which was being completed at the Elswick works, Newcastle, one of the largest battleships in the world, having 15,200 displacement, sailed for Portsmouth, although hardly in condition to go.

Inscription on Queen's Coffin.

The following is the inscription on the coffin of Queen Victoria:

DEPOSITUM
SERENISSIMAE POTENTISSIMAE
ET EXCELLENTISSIMAE

ET INDIE IMPERATORIS
OBITU XXII
DIE JANUARII
ANNO DOMINI MDCCCCI
AETATIS SUAE LXXXII
REGNIQUE SUI LXIV.

The following is the order of the foreign warships at the pageant:

The Baden, Prince Henry of Prussia's warship; the Hagen, the Victoria Luiz and the Nymph, German; the Dupuy de Lome, French; the Hatsuse, Japanese, and the Don Carlos I, Portuguese.

About 3,500 troops, it was expected, will be engaged in the procession from Osborne to Cowes. About 10,000 volunteers, it was expected, will be employed along the line of route in London, in addition to 20,000 regulars. Some disappointment is likely to be caused by the statement that no photographs will be allowed to be taken of the procession from Osborne to Cowes.

Manila, Jan. 30.—General MacArthur issued orders that all duty throughout the division, excepting the necessary guard and field duty, be suspended the day of Queen Victoria's funeral. At reveille a national salute will be fired and single guns will be fired about half hourly between sunrise and sunset, when a salute to the union jack, of 45 guns, will be fired.

TO PREVENT A NUISANCE

Suit to Enjoin Proposed Prizefight Begun at Cincinnati—Prominent Attorneys Engaged.

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—Suit was begun before Judge Howard Hollister, of the common pleas court, to enjoin the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest here Feb. 15. This proceeding is in the name of the state by Attorney General Sheets, at the direction of Governor Nash. It is understood, however, that the real instigators are the ministers and other elements of this city who are opposed to having the fight take place here and who resorted to every other means before this proceeding in the state court. The petition that was filed declares the proposed prize fight to be a nuisance, and a restraining order is wanted on that account rather than under any of the sections of the Ohio statutes pertaining to prize fights.

No application for an injunction was made, as it is desired first to have notices served on the defendants, so as to have a hearing on the merits of the case.

Arguments may be made on the application for an injunction on Thursday, when the attorneys for the opponents of the fight will attempt to show that a contest for a heavyweight championship of the world is not such as can come under the Ohio statutes. They will then show what they mean by a petition to enjoin a nuisance. Those seeking to prevent the fight have engaged a formidable array of legal talent, including Judson Harmon, who was attorney general under Cleveland; Gustave Wald, John W. Warrington, Lawrence Maxwell, Jr., formerly solicitor general of the United States; E. W. Kittredge and J. W. Herron.

Jeffries and Ruhlin, who were arrested Monday night and held in $1,000 bond, will have their hearing on Thursday. Very little interest is taken in this proceeding in the court of Squire Roebling, as it is understood to be a friendly action under section 7.117 of the Ohio statutes, and that the defendants will be released after the hearing on Thursday. It is even currently reported that this action was taken by friends of the promoters of the fight in order to forestall such action on the part of others.

OUR GALLANT DEAD.

Four Heroes to Be Interred at Arlington.

BODY OF CAPTAIN DAVIS ONE.

Relatives Requested Burial in the National Cemetery—Others to Be Taken to Their Homes for Interment—Unclaimed to Sleep at San Francisco.

Washington, Jan. 30.—It was stated at the quartermaster general's office that out of a total of 60 remains of soldiers and civilians recently received at San Francisco from China on the transport California, 40 bodies have been claimed by relatives and will be sent to their homes for private interment at government expense. The remainder, if not claimed within a reasonable period, will be interred at San Francisco National cemetery with military honors.

Four of the claimed remains will be brought to Washington by request of relatives for burial in the Arlington cemetery. These remains are those of Captain Austin R. Davis, United States marine corps, and Privates Ezekiel E. Hale, Company B; John J. Dreher, Company F, and Fred E. Rieffennacht, Company G, all of the Ninth United States infantry.

DIFFERENT SUBJECTS DISCUSSED.

Some Members Took Advantage of a Pending Bill to Make Speeches.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The house spent some time upon the agricultural appropriation bill. It was used as a vehicle for the introduction of several general speeches. Mr. Thayer, of Massachusetts, discussed the ship subsidy bill. Mr. White, of North Carolina, the colored member who goes out of congress March 4, delivered his valedictory upon the general subject of the aspirations of his race, and Mr. Ganns, of Tennessee, discussed the limitations of the constitution in connection with our insular possessions.

Mr. Corliss, of Michigan, made a vicious onslaught upon the bureau of animal industry of the agricultural department, but his attack raised a host of defenders, and his amendment to reduce the appropriation for the bureau was overwhelmingly defeated.

All that portion of the bill relating to the reorganization of the scientific bureaus of the agricultural department went out on a point of order raised by Mr. Mahon, of Pennsylvania.

The earlier portion of the session was enlivened by a sequel to the exchange between Mr. Flynn, of Oklahoma, and Mr. Stephens, of Texas, Monday, when the lie was almost passed. Mr. Stephens again denied and Mr. Flynn again reiterated his charges in connection with the passage of the bill to ratify the Kiowa and Comanche agreement passed at the last session.

KEEP SHIPPING BILL TO FRONT.

Senator Frye Gave Notice He Would Attemt to Do So.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Senator Frye gave notice in the senate that he intended to keep the shipping bill to the front, even as against appropriation bills, not yielding to them without a vote of the senate. It indicates a disposition on the part of senators to force to an early issue the question whether the shipping bill is going to pass at this session. Senator Turner, of Washington, spoke in severe arraignment of the bill, declaring it to be a "lawless, piratical raid upon the public treasury," in the interest of a few private beneficiaries, and committing the government to expenditures aggregating $270,000,000. Before the session closed the committee amendments were informally agreed to.

Warrington, Lawrence Maxwell, Jr., formerly solicitor general of the United States; E. W. Kittridge and J. W. Herron.

Jeffries and Ruhlin, who were arrested Monday night and held in $1,000 bond, will have their hearing on Thursday. Very little interest is taken in this proceeding in the court of Squire Roebling, as it is understood to be a friendly action under section 7.117 of the Ohio statutes, and that the defendants will be released after the hearing on Thursday.

It is even currently reported that this action was taken by friends of the promoters of the fight in order to forestall such action on the part of others.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL.

Conditional Arrangements to Honor Dead Queen.

KING MAY LOOK OVER PLANS TODAY

He Arrived at the Capital City, and Is to Consider Proposed Details of the Pageant—Naval Preparations Great—Archbishop to Prepare Memorial Service.

The Duke of Cornwall and York had been confined to his room since Thursday. It was feared, on Tuesday, he would be unable to take part in the ceremonies on Friday.

The only American wreath which has arrived at Osborne so far is one from Mrs. Sidney Everett, of Boston, who is staying on the Isle of Wight. It is inscribed:

"In token of lifelong veneration and reverence."

The outer coffin arrived Monday night. The non-commissioned officers detailed to carry the coffin rehearsed Monday with a dummy coffin filled with sand and weighing over half a ton.

Crown Prince Frederick, of Denmark, is expected to arrive in London today.

German Ships Sailed.

Prince Henry of Prussia sailed from Kiel Monday on board the German battleship Baden, accompanied by the coast defense ship Hagen.

Prince George of Saxony is prevented by influenza from coming to the funeral. Prince John George will take his place.

Duke Albrecht will represent the king of Wurtemburg.

The Crown Prince Ferdinand of Roumania is expected Thursday night in London.

The Orleans family will be represented by the Duke of Chartres, younger brother of the late Count of Paris; the Duke of Alencon and the Count of Eu, sons of the late Duke of Nemours, between whom and the late queen, in 1838, Louise Philippe tried to arrange a marriage.

The coffin will be borne from Osborne house by the queen's Highlanders, Friday, about 1:45 p. m., to a gun carriage. The household of the late queen, the royal servants and the tenantry, will be drawn up on the carriage drive. The queen's pipers will lead the procession through the king's gate to Trinity pier. There will be an imposing military display along the route, massed bands and drummers playing funeral marches. Behind the coffin will walk Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, first and principal aide de camp to the queen since 1839; the king, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Crown Prince Frederick, William of Germany, the Duke of York, Prince Henry of Prussia, Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, and other princes. Then will come Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of York and other princesses.

Blue jackets will bear the coffin from the pier to the royal yacht Alberta, where Admiral Culme-Seymour, four naval aides de camp and two ladies in waiting will accompany the remains.

Will Accompany Body on Yacht.

The king, queen, Emperor William and other members of the royal family will embark on board the royal yacht Victoria and Alberta.

London, Jan. 30.—King Edward and the Duke of Cambridge arrived in London. A large crowd welcomed the king at Victoria station.

Tuesday there was a rehearsal along the route of the funeral procession. The eight Hanoverian horses which will draw the gun carriage took a heavily laden brake, estimated to be the weight of the gun carriage and coffin, over the route. Numerous carriages followed and a number of mounted men, representing the foreign princes and others who will ride in the procession.

It has been arranged that the Eton boys will line the route from the Long Walk gates to Windsor castle, while the military knights of Windsor will be on duty in the chapel during the funeral services.

It was understood the funeral in London may be approximately about as follows:

A sovereign's escort of 100 life guards, the massed bands of three regiments of foot guards, Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters staff, an army gun carriage with the body, the king, supported by the German emperor; the king of Portugal, and the other reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence; the Dukes of Connaught and York, the equerries and aids de camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and other royal princesses, in four carriages, deeply draped, and in the rear of the procession, another sovereign's escort of 100 life guards. It is estimated that 60 royal princes will participate in the procession.

As the funeral will be of a military character there probably will be no pallbearers, although, possibly, at Windsor certain generals will act in this capacity while the coffin is being carried up the nave of St. George's chapel.

For the first time since his accession the king's train Tuesday was preceded by a pilot engine. His majesty was vociferously cheered on his way to Marlborough house.

Special Memorial Service Ordered.

The privy council ordered the archbishop of Canterbury to prepare a special form of service, in commemoration of the queen, to be used in all churches in the kingdom Saturday.

The Duke and Duchess of Aosta will arrive here Jan. 31.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was among the king's visitors this afternoon.

The malady from which the Duke of Cornwall and York is suffering is the German measles.

Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was taken down with the measles about 10 days ago.

In London active preparations were being made all along the route. Houses are being draped and seating accommodation is being provided. A committee of ladies has obtained permission to hang wreaths of evergreen along the line, one to be affixed to each lamp post, and all being three feet in diameter and of uniform pattern.

Of all the ceremonies no doubt the naval likely will be a fine pageant. According to the arrangements, the Alberta, with the body, will slowly steam along a line of battleships extending about eight miles. Facing these giants of the British navy will be smaller vessels and some foreign guns of the ships will be fired as the yacht bearing the body traverses the distance through the lines of ships.

King Edward received Lord Salisbury and several other members of the cabinet Tuesday at Marlborough house. He will hold a privy council at St. James palace today to sanction finally the arrangements for the funeral and then will return immediately to Osborne.

The wreath sent by the King of Portugal was so large that it could not be placed in the Chapel Ardent. It is in the form of a cushion of violets, supporting a cross surmounted by a crown of lilies of the valley.

The Mikado wired such imperative orders to the Japanese legation for the presence of a Japanese warship at the naval display that the battleship Hatsuse, which was being completed at the Elsewick works, Newcastle, one of the largest battleships in the world, having 15,200 displacement, sailed for Portsmouth, although hardly in condition to go.

Inscription on Queen's Coffin.

The following is the inscription on the coffin of Queen Victoria:

DEPOSITUM
SERENISSIMAE POTENTISSIMAE
ET EXCELENTISSIMAE
PRINCIPIS
VICTORIAE
DEI GRATIA BRITANNIARUM
REGINIAE
FIDEI DEFENSORIS
ET INDIE IMPERATRICIS
OBIIT XXII
DIE JANUARI
ANNO DOMINI MDCCCCI
AETATIS SUAE LXXXII
REGNIQUE SUI LXIV.

The following is the order of the foreign warships at the pageant:

The Baden, Prince Henry of Prussia's warship; the Hagen, the Victoria Luiz and the Nympha, German; the Dupuy de Lome, French; the Hatsumi, Japanese, and the Don Carlos I, Portuguese.

About 3,500 troops, it was expected, will be engaged in the procession from Osborne to Cowes. About 10,000 volunteers, it was expected, will be employed along the line of route in London, in addition to 20,000 regulars. Some disappointment is likely to be caused by the statement that no photographs will be allowed to be taken of the procession from Osborne to Cowes.

Manila, Jan. 30.—General MacArthur issued orders that all duty throughout the division, excepting the necessary guard and field duty, be suspended the day of Queen Victoria's funeral. At reveille a national salute will be fired and single guns will be fired about half hourly between sunrise and sunset, when a salute to the union jack, of 45 guns, will be fired.

AMERICAN SYMPATHY.

In Constantinople, They Passed Resolutions on Queen's Death.

Constantinople, Jan. 30.—The Americans in Constantinople met at the United States legation under the presidency of the United States charge d'affaires, Mr. Lloyd C. Griscom, and adopted a resolution of sympathy with the royal family and people of Great Britain proposed by Dr. Washburn. The resolution concluded as follows:

"We are proud to share in the mother country's admiration and affection for Queen Victoria, and we owe her a special debt of gratitude because of her unvarying sympathy with and friendship for our own country."

TO PREVENT A NUISANCE

Suit to Enjoin Proposed Prizefight Begun at Cincinnati—Prominent Attorneys Engaged.

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—Suit was begun before Judge Howard Hollister, of the common pleas court, to enjoin the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest here Feb. 15. This proceeding is in the name of the state by Attorney General Sheets, at the direction of Governor Nash. It is understood, however, that the real instigators are the ministers and other elements of this city who are opposed to having the fight take place here and who resorted to every other means before this proceeding in the state court. The petition that was filed declares the proposed prize fight to be a nuisance, and a restraining order is wanted on that account rather than under any of the sections of the Ohio statutes pertaining to prize fights.

No application for an injunction was made, as it is desired first to have notices served on the defendants, so as to have a hearing on the merits of the case.

Arguments may be made on the application for an injunction on Thursday, when the attorneys for the opponents of the fight will attempt to show that a contest for a heavyweight championship of the world is not such as can come under the Ohio statutes. They will then show what they mean by a petition to enjoin a nuisance. Those seeking to prevent the fight have engaged a formidable array of legal talent, including Judge Harmon, who was attorney general under Cleveland; Gustave Wald, John W. Warrington, Lawrence Maxwell, Jr., formerly solicitor general of the United States; E. W. Klitridge and J. W. Herron.

Jeffries and Ruhlin, who were arrested Monday night and held in $1,000 bond, will have their hearing on Thursday. Very little interest is taken in this proceeding in the court of Squire Roebling, as it is understood to be a friendly action under section 7,117 of the Ohio statutes, and that the defendants will be released after the hearing on Thursday.

It is even currently reported that this action was taken by friends of the promoters of the fight in order to forestall such action on the part of others.

OUR GALLANT DEAD.

Four Heroes to Be Interred at Arlington.

BODY OF CAPTAIN DAVIS ONE.

Relatives Requested Burial in the National Cemetery—Others to Be Taken to Their Homes for Interment—Unclaimed to Sleep at San Francisco.

Washington, Jan. 30.—It was stated at the quartermaster general's office that out of a total of 60 remains of soldiers and civilians recently received at San Francisco from China on the transport California, 40 bodies have been claimed by relatives and will be sent to their homes for private interment at government expense. The remainder, if not claimed within a reasonable period, will be interred at San Francisco National cemetery with military honors.

Four of the claimed remains will be brought to Washington by request of relatives for burial in the Arlington cemetery. These remains are those of Captain Austin R. Davis, United States marine corps, and Privates Ezekiel E. Hale, Company B; John D. Dreher, Company F, and Fred E. Rieffennacht, Company G, all of the Ninth United States infantry.

DIFFERENT SUBJECTS DISCUSSED.

Some Members Took Advantage of a Pending Bill to Make Speeches.

Washington, Jan. 30.—The house spent some time upon the agricultural appropriation bill. It was used as a vehicle for the introduction of several general speeches. Mr. Thayer, of Massachusetts, discussed the ship subsidy bill. Mr. White, of North Carolina, the colored member who goes out of congress March 4, delivered his valedictory upon the general subject of the aspirations of his race, and Mr. Ganns, of Tennessee, discussed the limitations of the constitution in connection with our insular possessions.

Mr. Corliss, of Michigan, made a vicious onslaught upon the bureau of animal industry of the agricultural department, but his attack raised a host of defenders, and his amendment to reduce the appropriation for the bureau was overwhelmingly defeated.

All that portion of the bill relating to the reorganization of the scientific bureaus of the agricultural department went out on a point of order raised by Mr. Mahon, of Pennsylvania.

The earlier portion of the session was enlivened by a sequel to the exchange between Mr. Flynn, of Oklahoma, and Mr. Stephens, of Texas, Monday, when the lie was almost passed. Mr. Stephens again denied and Mr. Flynn again reiterated his charges in connection with the passage of the bill to ratify the Kiowa and Comanche agreement passed at the last session.

KEEP SHIPPING BILL TO FRONT.

Senator Frye Gave Notice He Would Attempt to Do So.

Washington, Jan. 30.—Senator Frye gave notice in the senate that he intended to keep the shipping bill to the front, even as against appropriation bills, not yielding to them without a vote of the senate. It indicates a disposition on the part of senate leaders to force to an early issue the question whether the shipping bill is going to pass at this session. Senator Turner, of Washington, spoke in severe arraignment of the bill, declaring it to be a "lawless, piratical raid upon the public treasury," in the interest of a few private beneficiaries, and committing the government to expenditures aggregating $2

ANTI-LAMP MANDATE.

Gasoline Lamps Ordered Discontinued In Ohio.

STATE STATUTES VERY POSITIVE.

All Manufacturers of the Lamps In the State Ordered to Cease Making Them, by the State Oil Inspectors—May Be Fought In Courts.

Toledo, O., Jan. 30.—State Oil Inspectors Frank L. Baird, of Toledo, and John R. Mallon, of Columbus, issued a positive mandate that all manufacturers of gasoline lamps in the state must discontinue such manufacture and use at once.

There are several large factories in Ohio and many thousand users. It is intended to serve notice on all at first, and if the order is not obeyed in reasonable time radical measures will be inaugurated. It is anticipated that the manufacturers will fight the matter through the courts. The statutes of Ohio are very positive on the subject, but have never been made effective by former state oil inspectors.

TO GALLANT TENTH DEAD.

Resolution For Monument to Pennsylvania Heroes Introduced In Pennsylvania Senate—Other Proceedings.

Harrisburg, Jan. 30.—The senate adopted a concurrent resolution presented by Mr. Cummings, of Warren, providing for the appointment of a commission to be known as the Keystone State Commission of the Pan-American Exposition, and making an appropriation of $35,000 to cover the expenses for the commission and for the erection of a suitable state building at the exposition grounds at Buffalo. The resolution provides for the appointment of three senators, five representatives and five citizens of the state. The president pro tem. of the senate, the speaker of the house and the governor shall also be members of the commission.

The house resolution favoring the passage by congress of the Grout oleomargarine bill was adopted.

The protest presented at the opening of the present session protesting against the seating of Senator Drury, of Luzerne, which has been lying on the table pending the appointment of the standing committees, was referred to the committee on elections.

On motion of Senator Grady the special committee of nine appointed for the purpose of considering bills, in the absence of the standing committees, was discharged, and the bills on which the committee had not yet taken action were referred to appropriate committees.

The senate passed the bill appropriating $5,000 for the finishing of a monument on Mount Zion, in Lancaster county, in memory of Revolutionary soldiers, and authorizing the Ephrata Monument association to use material now in possession of numerous citizens.

A number of bills passed second reading, among them being Senator Fox's bill appropriating $6,000,000 and creating a commission for the completion of the state capitol building, and Senator Grady's bill repealing the libel law of 1897. A number of bills were introduced.

Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Muehlbronner, of Allegheny county, appropriating $30,000 for the erection of a monument in memory of the officers and men of the Tenth regiment, U. S. V., who died while the regiment was serving in the Philippines.

There was another flood of appropriation bills in the house and the usual batch of remedial legislation promised the people by the candidates during the campaign. There was also a number of other bills which have been before the public since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

Favorable reports were made upon bills brought out of committee establishing the additional common pleas court in Philadelphia and creating a separate orphans' court in Lackawanna county.

MURDERERS SENTENCED.

Killers of Jennie Boscheiter Got Maximum—Judge Said Three Were Fortunately to Escape Gallows.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 30.—Walter C. McAllister, William A. Death and Andrew J. Campbell, who were found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Jennie Boscheiter, on Oct. 19, 1900, by the administration of criminal and subsequent assault, together with George J. Kerr, who pleaded non vult contende to a charge of assault, were brought into the court of oyer and terminer here for sentence by Judge Dixon. McAllister, Campbell and Death were each sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment at hard labor and Kerr to 15 years' imprisonment at hard labor.

These sentences were the maximum under the law in each case. McAllister, Campbell and Death were convicted of murder in the second degree.

Kerr pleaded guilty to complicity in the death of Jennie Boscheiter, but insisted he was not present when the girl was drugged and took no part in the actual crime.

Judge Dixon, in pronouncing sentence on Death, McAllister and Campbell, said that only through the leniency of the jury had they escaped hanging, and that they need not expect any leniency from him.

"It is true the sentence will destroy your lives," continued Judge Dixon solemnly, "it will obliterate any prospect of any future before you, and all because of the deeds you have committed. I can't make any distinction because of your earlier life, but I must sentence you for the crime you have committed. I trust the fearful consequences may lead the young women and men of Paterson to know that they cannot find happiness in vice. I therefore sentence you to 30 years at hard labor in the state prison."

Judge Dixon then ordered Kerr to stand up. The judge looked at the man sadly, and in a lowered tone said: "The evidence against you did not show that you were implicated in the murder of Jennie Boscheiter. In one aspect, however, your case is worse than that of the others. You were older and had more obligations. You had a wife and children worthy of your devotion, but you disregarded them. You broke the ties that bound you to home; you drifted away from home and cast yourself upon the rocks of vice and crime."

Judge Dixon then adverted to the crime, which he described as a ghastly outrage, and referred to the victim, "poor Jennie Boscheiter, who did not deserve her fate." Then he added: "Gladly would I spare your relatives, but in the exercise of my official duties I cannot. I therefore sentence you to 15 years at hard labor in the state prison."

Judge Dixon then ordered Kerr to stand up. The judge looked at the man sadly, and in a lowered tone said: "The evidence against you did not show that you were implicated in the murder of Jennie Boscheiter. In one aspect, however, your case is worse than that of the others. You were older and had more obligations. You had a wife and children worthy of your devotion, but you disregarded them. You broke the ties that bound you to home; you drifted away from home and cast yourself upon the rocks of vice and crime."

Judge Dixon then adverted to the crime, which he described as a ghastly outrage, and referred to the victim, "poor Jennie Boscheiter, who did not deserve her fate." Then he added: "Gladly would I spare your relatives, but in the exercise of my official duties I cannot. I therefore sentence you to 15 years at hard labor in the state prison."

ST. PAUL PROMINENT.

Had a Strong Influence on the Stock Market, Tuesday—Movements in Some Other Stocks.

New York, Jan. 30.—The stock market was again dominated by St. Paul Tuesday, with some incidental disturbance from the erratic fluctuations of Steel and Wire. Prices moved somewhat narrowly and on a small volume of transactions in sympathy with them throughout the day. Southern Pacific was a notable exception to the general tendency of the market. It was bought largely all day, and in the late dealings rose an extreme 1 1/8 to 47, carrying some other stocks, notably among the grangers and Pacifies, with it. But renewed weakness in the leaders carried prices, except for Southern Pacific, down again, leaving only a few insignificant net gains among the larger list of losses.

Mobile and Ohio made a very notable rise of 6%, accompanied by rumors of absorption or control by the Illinois Central. New York Central gained 2 points on very light transactions, and Manhattan and Leather showed signs of strength. American Express gained 4 1/2 without any explanatory news. The opening break in St. Paul was violent, the stock dipping 4% to 150 under the pressure of heavy blocks to sell. Later in the day it got up as high as 153 twice and wavered uncertainly between that and 151, closing with a net loss of 2 1/4.

In Steel and Wire the low point was made at 39 soon after the opening, and the stock then rebounded to above 41 before the announcement was given out that the promised statement would be withheld until about 3 p. m., instead of being published about 11 o'clock. During the afternoon the stock got as high as 41 1/4, but closed at a net loss of 3 1/4.

The prevailing state of mind of speculators in the stock was evidently one of entire uncertainty as to the effect the statement would have upon holders and the uncertainty is likely to continue, as no action has been taken on the actual question of the dividend. The congested and uneven character of the trading is indicated by the fact that not a single share of such a usually active stock as Sugar was sold until well into the second hour of trading, and the first sale of Tennessee Coal was recorded after 1 o'clock. A considerable portion of gold on Thursday is assured and already $1,500,000 have been spoken in a tentative manner at the assay office.

The railroad bond market continued moderately active, with an irregular movement of prices. Total sales, par value, $3,855,000.

United States 3s and new 4s advanced 1/4 per cent on the last call.

The message was accompanied by a report made by the secretary of state.

An important and interesting summary of what has been achieved by the United States in the direction of opening up and extending our markets abroad is presented in a letter from Secretary Hay, which was laid before congress, accompanying the annual publication known as "Commercial relation of the United States with foreign countries," being a collection of the reports of consuls for 1900.

The Venango county, Pa., grand jury dismissed the libel suit brought against Lewis Emery, Jr., and Delevan Emery by Colonel P. C. Boyle, editor of the Oil City Derrick. The suit was the outgrowth of an exchange of personalities during the state campaign last fall. It had been previously ignored by the McKean county grand jury. The costs were placed on Colonel Boyle in both cases.

Frank Fisher, who recently sold his girl wife for 50 cents, was drowned in the Delaware river, near Easton, Pa. Fisher went to Phillipsburg to purchase stolen scrap iron, it is alleged, and was apprehended by Detective Northern, of the Pennsylvania railroad. Fisher got away and ran for Easton. Finding the approach to the bridge cut off, he plunged into the icy waters and was swimming across the river when he was seized with cramps and drowned.

Resolution For Monument to Pennsylvania Heroes Introduced In Pennsylvania Senate—Other Proceedings.

Harrisburg, Jan. 30.—The senate adopted a concurrent resolution presented by Mr. Cummings, of Warren, providing for the appointment of a commission to be known as the Keystone State Commission of the Pan-American Exposition, and making an appropriation of $35,000 to cover the expenses for the commission and for the erection of a suitable state building at the exposition grounds at Buffalo. The resolution provides for the appointment of three senators, five representatives and five citizens of the state. The president pro tem. of the senate, the speaker of the house and the governor shall also be members of the commission.

The house resolution favoring the passage by congress of the Grout oleomargarine bill was adopted.

The protest presented at the opening of the present session protesting against the seating of Senator Drury, of Luzerne, which has been lying on the table pending the appointment of the standing committees, was referred to the committee on elections.

On motion of Senator Grady the special committee of nine appointed for the purpose of considering bills, in the absence of the standing committees, was discharged, and the bills on which the committee had not yet taken action were referred to appropriate committees.

The senate passed the bill appropriating $5,000 for the finishing of a monument on Mount Zion, in Lancaster county, in memory of Revolutionary soldiers, and authorizing the Ephrata Monument association to use material now in possession of numerous citizens.

A number of bills passed second reading, among them being Senator Fox's bill appropriating $6,000,000 and creating a commission for the completion of the state capitol building, and Senator Grady's bill repealing the libel law of 1897. A number of bills were introduced.

Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Muehlbronner, of Allegheny county, appropriating $30,000 for the erection of a monument in memory of the officers and men of the Tenth regiment, U. S. V., who died while the regiment was serving in the Philippines.

There was another flood of appropriation bills in the house and the usual batch of remedial legislation promised the people by the candidates during the campaign. There was also a number of other bills which have been before the public since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

Favorable reports were made upon bills brought out of committee establishing the additional common pleas court in Philadelphia and creating a separate orphans' court in Lackawanna county.

MURDERERS SENTENCED.

Killers of Jennie Boscheiter Got Maximum—Judge Said Three Were Fortunate to Escape Gallows.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 30.—Walter C. McAllister, William A. Death and Andrew J. Campbell, who were found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Jennie Boscheiter, on Oct. 19, 1900, by the administration of chloral and subsequent assault, together with George J. Kerr, who pleaded non vult contende to a charge of assault, were brought into the court of oyer and terminer here for sentence by Judge Dixon. McAllister, Campbell and Death were each sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment at hard labor and Kerr to 15 years' imprisonment at hard labor.

These sentences were the maximum under the law in each case. McAllister, Campbell and Death were convicted of murder in the second degree.

Kerr pleaded guilty to complicity in the death of Jennie Boscheiter, but insisted he was not present when the girl was drugged and took no part in the actual crime.

Judge Dixon, in pronouncing sentence on Death, McAllister and Campbell, said that only through the leniency of the jury had they escaped hanging, and that they need not expect any leniency from him.

"It is true the sentence will destroy your lives," continued Judge Dixon solemnly, "it will obliterate any prospect of any future before you, and all because of the deeds you have committed. I can't make any distinction because of your earlier life, but I must sentence you for the crime you have committed. I trust the fearful consequences may lead the young women and men of Paterson to know that they cannot find happiness in vice. I therefore sentence you to 30 years at hard labor in the state prison."

Judge Dixon then ordered Kerr to stand up. The judge looked at the man sadly, and in a lowered tone said: "The evidence against you did not show that you were implicated in the murder of Jennie Boscheiter. In one aspect, however, your case is worse than that of the others. You were older and had more obligations. You had a wife and children worthy of your devotion, but you disregarded them. You broke the ties that bound you to home; you drifted away from home and cast yourself upon the rocks of vice and crime."

Judge Dixon then adverted to the crime, which he described as a ghastly outrage, and referred to the victim, "poor Jennie Boscheiter, who did not deserve her fate." Then he added: "Gladly would I spare your relatives, but in the exercise of my official duties I cannot. I therefore sentence you to 15 years at hard labor in the state prison."

ministration of enforcement and subsequent assault, together with George J. Kerr, who pleaded non vult to contendre a charge of assault, were brought into the court of oyer and terminer here for sentence by Judge Dixon. McAllister, Campbell and Death were each sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment at hard labor and Kerr to 15 years' imprisonment at hard labor.

These sentences were the maximum under the law in each case. McAllister, Campbell and Death were convicted of murder in the second degree.

Kerr pleaded guilty to complicity in the death of Jennie Boschleiter, but insisted he was not present when the girl was drugged and took no part in the actual crime.

Judge Dixon, in pronouncing sentence on Death, McAllister and Campbell, said that only through the leniency of the jury had they escaped hanging, and that they need not expect any leniency from him.

"It is true the sentence will destroy your lives," continued Judge Dixon solemnly, "it will obliterate any prospect of any future before you, and all because of the deeds you have committed. I can't make any distinction because of your earlier life, but I must sentence you for the crime you have committed. I trust the fearful consequences may lead the young women and men of Paterson to know that they cannot find happiness in vice. I therefore sentence you to 30 years at hard labor in the state prison."

Judge Dixon then ordered Kerr to stand up. The judge looked at the man sadly, and in a lowered tone said: "The evidence against you did not show that you were implicated in the murder of Jennie Boschleiter. In one aspect, however, your case is worse than that of the others. You were older and had more obligations.

You had a wife and children worthy of your devotion, but you disregarded them. You broke the ties that bound you to home: you drifted away from home and cast yourself upon the rocks of vice and crime."

Judge Dixon then adverted to the crime, which he described as a ghastly outrage, and referred to the victim, "poor Jennie Boschleiter, who did not deserve her fate." Then he added: "Gladly would I spare your relatives, but in the exercise of my official duties I cannot. I therefore sentence you to 15 years at hard labor in the state prison."

ST. PAUL PROMINENT.

Had a Strong Influence on the Stock Market, Tuesday—Movements in Some Other Stocks.

New York, Jan. 30.—The stock market was again dominated by St. Paul Tuesday, with some incidental disturbance from the erratic fluctuations of Steel and Wire. Prices moved somewhat narrowly and on a small volume of transactions in sympathy with them throughout the day. Southern Pacific was a notable exception to the general tendency of the market. It was bought largely all day, and in the late dealings rose an extreme 1 1/8 to 47, carrying some other stocks, notably among the grangers and Pacifics, with it. But renewed weakness in the leaders carried prices, except for Southern Pacific, down again, leaving only a few insignificant net gains among the larger list of losses.

Mobile and Ohio made a very notable rise of 6 1/2, accompanied by rumors of absorption or control by the Illinois Central. New York Central gained 2 points on very light transactions, and Manhattan and Leather showed signs of strength. American Express gained 4 1/2 without any explanatory news. The opening break in St. Paul was violent, the stock dipping 4 1/2 to 150 under the pressure of heavy blocks to sell. Later in the day it got up as high as 153 twice and wavered uncertainly between that and 151, closing with a net loss of 2 1/2.

In Steel and Wire the low point was made at 39 soon after the opening, and the stock then rebounded to above 41 before the announcement was given out that the promised statement would be withheld until about 3 p. m., instead of being published about 11 o'clock. During the afternoon the stock got as high as 41 1/4, but closed at a net loss of 3 1/4. The prevailing state of mind of speculators in the stock was evidently one of entire uncertainty as to the effect the statement would have upon holders and the uncertainty is likely to continue, as no action has been taken on the actual question of the dividend. The congested and uneven character of the trading is indicated by the fact that not a single share of such a usually active stock as Sugar was sold until well into the second hour of trading, and the first sale of Tennessee Coal was recorded after 1 o'clock. A considerable export of gold on Thursday is assured and already $1,500,000 have been spoken in a tentative manner at the assay office.

The railroad bond market continued moderately active, with an irregular movement of prices. Total sales, par value, $3,855,000.

United States 3s and new 4s advanced 1/4 per cent on the last call.

SOME EVENTS IN BRIEF.

Smallpox has been discovered in a Polish boarding house at Youngstown, O.

James Cross, aged 19, committed suicide by shooting near Belington, W. Va.

Count Tolstoi, the eminent Russian novelist and social reformer, is again seriously ill.

The Russian field marshal, Count Gourko, died on his estate at Schadow, near Iver.

The plant of the Indianapolis Sun, an evening paper, was damaged by fire. Loss, $30,000.

At Greene, O., Fred Vaughan, 23 years old and single, shot himself in the head and will die.

At Madrid the cession of Sibutu and Cagayan de Jolo islands to the United States has been gazetted.

At Des Moines, Iowa, a disastrous fire in the city's business portion entailed a loss of perhaps $500,000.

David Rush Barnes, while trying to board a train at Lancaster, near Chambersburg, Pa., fell and was ground to pieces.

Six members of the Kittanning, Pa., court of the Order of Foresters were partly overcome by gas in their lodge room during a meeting.

A 6-year-old son of Mrs. Joseph Garden, of East Huntington township, Westmoreland county, died of burns accidentally received.

At Niagara Falls the first ice bridge of the season has formed and appears to be very strong and of permanent character, constantly increasing in extent.

A passenger locomotive was derailed and wrecked at Coal Run, near Grafton, W. Va. Mail Clerk W. T. Lilly and Baggage man James Keckman were severely hurt.

Lillian, Duchess of Marlborough, of England, gave £1,000 to the Dorking Cottage hospital in memory of her husband, the late Lord William Beresford. She was at one time Mrs. Hamersley, of New York.

At Jackson, Miss., in the circuit court, Contractor Gibson, of Indiana, on trial for an alleged attempt to bribe Governor Longino in the awarding of capitol contracts, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty.

The power to order a general strike or suspension of labor in the mines was taken out of the hands of the national officers of the United Mine Workers of America, who have heretofore had absolute control in this particular, at Indianapolis.

Orders were issued relieving General Wade and General William Ludlow from their present duties and directing both officers to proceed to San Francisco in time to sail on the first transport from that port after March 1. General Wade, who is now in command of the department of Dakota, is to be temporarily succeeded by Major General Otis.

The president sent a message to congress renewing his recommendation of last session that congress make "gracious provision for indemnity to the families" of the two victims of the Tallulah, La., lynching, July 20, 1899, who were subjects of the Italian government. The message was accompanied by a report made by the secretary of state.

An important and interesting summary of what has been achieved by the United States in the direction of opening up and extending our markets abroad is presented in a letter from Secretary Hay, which was laid before congress, accompanying the annual publication known as "Commercial relation of the United States with foreign countries," being a collection of the reports of consuls for 1900.

The Venango county, Pa., grand jury dismissed the libel suit brought against Lewis Emery, Jr., and Delevan Emery by Colonel P. C. Boyle, editor of the Oil City Derrick. The suit was the outgrowth of an exchange of personalities during the state campaign last fall. It had been previously ignored by the McKean county grand jury. The costs were placed on Colonel Boyle in both cases.

Frank Fisher, who recently sold his girl wife for 50 cents, was drowned in the Delaware river, near Easton, Pa. Fisher went to Philipsburg to purchase stolen scrap iron, it is alleged, and was apprehended by Detective Northern, of the Pennsylvania railroad. Fisher got away and ran for Easton. Finding the approach to the bridge cut off, he plunged into the icy waters and was swimming across the river when he was seized with cramps and drowned.

MRS. GALLUP MOURNS

A SIGN WARNS HER THAT HER TIME HAS ABOUT COME.

So Between Sobs She Has a Little One Sided Talk With Her Devoted Husband About the House and the Things That Are In It.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

When supper had been concluded, Mr. Gallup sat down to read a pamphlet descriptive of the Wiggins washing machine, and Mrs. Gallup flung a shawl over her head and ran over to a neighbor's to give warning that the chicken pox had broken out in a town only ten miles away and would probably sweep the whole country before it could be staid. It was hardly a quarter of an hour before she returned, and her first action was to pitch forward on the lounge and roll over three times before she got settled down into a comfortable position to do some weeping. Her conduct ought to have attracted immediate attention, but it didn't. Mr. Gallup was reading a declaration from the sole inventor and proprietor that the Wiggins washing machine had saved the public 1,000,000 pounds of soap in the last year, and the family clock might have stopped without his taking notice of it. When about 50 sobs and sighs and groans had failed to arouse him, Mrs. Gallup sat up and said:

"SHE BUST INTO TEARS."

"Samuel, you know I went over to see Mrs. Taylor. As she has 'leven children and is allus willin to lend me her flatirons, I thought it only right to tell her that the whole 'leven might be taken down with chicken pox any minit. I hadn't hardly got my mouth open before she bust into tears and put her arm around me. She wasn't cryin on account of the chicken pox, but on my account. I had bad news for her, but she had badder for me. Don't you want to know what it was?"

Mr. Gallup didn't. He was reading a testimonial from the wife of a governor that the Wiggins washer had brought joy to her household when everything else had failed, and he was deaf to the outside world. Mrs. Gallup waited a reasonable time for a reply and then said:

"The news she had to tell me, Samuel, was that I had but three days to live. If I hadn't gone over there she would have come over here, as she thought I ought to be makin ready. That's Mrs. Taylor all over. She's allus doin sunthin for other folks. You must remember when Saray Ann Spooner died? And you remember when Uncle Goodrich was hooked to death by a cow? Waal, Mrs. Taylor had warnin three days ahead that both of 'em was goin to perish. Her clock suddenly stopped with a whir-r-r, and both hands p'nted in a certain direction. At 5 o'clock this afternoon the clock stopped ag'in and the hands p'nted right toward our house. That meant me. In three days from now I'll be sailin around among the clouds."

Mr. Gallup didn't dispute it. He was reading that the Wiggins washer would do the work of ten women at the washboard, and he was giving the inventor credit for being a bigger man than P. T. Barnum or Dan Rice.

"I'm glad it's come, Samuel," continued Mrs. Gallup in more cheerful tones. "You know I hev bin expectin to die any minit for the last 25 years, and it has kinder kept me upset. You'll be glad, too, because you don't like the smell of camphor and mustard plasters around. You may feel a little lonesome for two or three days after I'm gone, but with playin checkers, goin to the debatin society and lookin around for a second wife you'll soon chirp up and git your appetie back. I ain't goin to ask you who you shall take for your second wife, but before I go I want to talk with you about the house. Will you talk with me, Samuel?"

Mr. Gallup refused to commit himself. That Wiggins washer was being sold for $10 when other and inferior machines were foisted on the public at $15, and he was saying to himself that Wiggins ought to have the gratitude of the nation. Mrs. Gallup shed seven or eight tears, caught a sob between her teeth and went on:

"In the first place, the oven door to the stove needs a new hinge. It got broke seven years ago, but I have got along with it so as to save expense. Then the snout is broke off our two quart pitcher, and the handle is off the gallon jug. If I was goin to stay right along on earth, I shouldn't tell you that we ought to hev a new set of teaspoons or that there are three holes in the dishpan, but I'm goin fur, fur away, and your second wife won't put up with things as I hev. We are still sleepin on the same feather bed mother gave me when we was married, and the feathers ought to hev new tickin. If I was to live on, I could make the old sheets do fur a year more; but, as it is, I guess you'll hev to buy at least two. You ought to hev some pillows too. Down cellar you'll find half a barrel of soft soap, two jars of peach pickles and six gallons of apple butter. I hope your second wife will be as careful of 'em as I hev bin. Many a time I hev wanted a peach pickle in the middle of the afternoon, but I wouldn't go down arter it and be a pig. Did I tell you about the cider vinegar, Samuel?"

Mr. Gallup was holding his breath over the statement that the Wiggins washer washed a shirt for the governor of Arizona in 13 seconds, and of course he didn't answer.

"The cider vinegar ain't no good, Samuel. It didn't work, and you might as well throw it away. Before you marry ag'in you ought to fix the leak in the roof, git a new pump for the well, whitewash the kitchen and buy a new mop handle. First wifes can git along most any way and make one mop last for 20 years, but second wifes begin to kick right away. I ain't tellin you these things because I'm jealous, Samuel, but because it's my duty as a dyin wife. I don't want you to hev to go huntin the house all over after I'm gone to find things. Remember, your dyin wife, who hain't asked you to buy her a hairpin for 17 years, tells you that you've got three shirts, four pairs of socks, five collars and two handkerchiefs in the bureau, and hangin up in the clothespress is two old suits and one old hat. In the top drawer of the bureau you'll find a piece of crape for your hat, and in the bottom drawer is some farewell verses I writ out a year ago. I don't owe none of the nayburs no tea or coffee or sugar, and none of 'em owes me anything. Now, that's all, and if you want to kiss me and say you're sorry I've got to go and hope I'll watch over you, why, then I'm ready."

She looked full at Mr. Gallup for the first time. His eyes were still glued to that pamphlet. It was stated that the Wiggins washer was so constructed that it could be attached to a potato slicer or an apple parer and no reader's interest could help but grow.

Mrs. Gallup waited 60 seconds for an answer, and then as none came she softly rose up and went out into the kitchen and began to get things ready for breakfast. She had been gone ten minutes when Mr. Gallup smiled. He didn't smile because he heard her singing a verse of "The Old Oaken Bucket," but because Mr. Wiggins finished his pamphlet with the declaration that no matter who wrote the poetry of America, he proposed to wash the shirts of the nation.

She Was Ahead.

Marjorie had just returned from a visit to the old homestead in Tennessee, where a colored nurse nearly 100 years old was still an inmate. It puzzled her that Chloe should be called "auntie" by her mother and the family, but at last she accepted the fact and did likewise. Her playmates, trooping in to welcome her home, began to enumerate their possessions acquired during her absence.

"I've got a black pony," crowed Charlie exultantly.

"I've got a new baby brother," cried Jessie.

"M'm! That's nothing; I've got two of 'em," retorted Fred.

Marjorie's eyes flashed. "Oh!" she cried. "I've got a heap more'n that; I've got an auntie as old as Mefusela and black as tar."—Leslie's Weekly.

MRS. GALLUP MOURNS

A SIGN WARNS HER THAT HER TIME HAS ABOUT COME.

So Between Sobs She Has a Little One Sided Talk With Her Devoted Husband About the House and the Things That Are In It.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

When supper had been concluded, Mr. Gallup sat down to read a pamphlet descriptive of the Wiggins washing machine, and Mrs. Gallup flung a shawl over her head and ran over to a neighbor's to give warning that the chicken pox had broken out in a town only ten miles away and would probably sweep the whole country before it could be staid. It was hardly a quarter of an hour before she returned, and her first action was to pitch forward on the lounge and roll over three times before she got settled down into a comfortable position to do some weeping. Her conduct ought to have attracted immediate attention, but it didn't. Mr. Gallup was reading a declaration from the sole inventor and proprietor that the Wiggins washing machine had saved ed the public 1,000,000 pounds of soap in the last year, and the family clock might have stopped without his taking notice of it. When about 50 sobs and sighs and groans had failed to arouse him, Mrs. Gallup sat up and said:

"Samuel, you know I went over to see Mrs. Taylor. As she has 'leven children and is allus willin to lend me her flatirons, I thought it only right to tell her that the whole 'leven might be taken down with chicken pox any minit. I hadn't hardly got my mouth open before she bust into tears and put her arm around me. She wasn't cryin on account of the chicken pox, but on my account. I had bad news for her, but she had badder for me. Don't you want to know what it was?"

Mr. Gallup didn't. He was reading a testimonial from the wife of a governor that the Wiggins washer had brought joy to her household when everything else had failed, and he was deaf to the outside world. Mrs. Gallup waited a reasonable time for a reply and then said:

"The news she had to tell me, Samuel, was that I had but three days to live. If I hadn't gone over there she would have come over here, as she thought I ought to be makin ready. That's Mrs. Taylor all over. She's allus doin sunthin for other folks. You must remember when Saray Ann Spooner died? And you remember when Uncle Goodrich was hooked to death by a cow? Waal, Mrs. Taylor had warnin three days ahead that both of 'em was goin to perish. Her clock suddenly stopped with a whir-r-r-r, and both hands p'nted in a certain direction. At 5 o'clock this afternoon the clock stopped ag'in and the hands p'nted right toward our house. That meant me. In three days from now I'll be sailin around among the clouds."

Mr. Gallup didn't dispute it. He was reading that the Wiggins washer would do the work of ten women at the washboard, and he was giving the inventor credit for being a bigger man than P. T. Barnum or Dan Rice.

"I'm glad it's come, Samuel," continued Mrs. Gallup in more cheerful tones. "You know I hev bin expectin to die any minit for the last 25 years, and it has kinder kept me up-sot. You'll be glad, too, because you don't like the smell of camphor and mustard plasters around. You may feel a little lonesome for two or three days after I'm gone, but with playin checkers, goin to the debatin society and lookin around for a second wife you'll soon chirk up and git your appe-

tie back. I ain't goin to ask you who you shall take for your second wife, but before I go I want to talk with you about the house. Will you talk with me, Samuel?"

Mr. Gallup refused to commit himself. That Wiggins washer was being sold for $10 when other and inferior machines were foisted on the public at $15, and he was saying to himself that Wiggins ought to have the gratitude of the nation. Mrs. Gallup shed seven or eight tears, caught a sob between her teeth and went on:

"In the first place, the oven door to the stove needs a new hinge. It got broke seven years ago, but I have got along with it so as to save expense. Then the snout is broke off our two quart pitcher, and the handle is off the gallon jug. If I was goin to stay right along on earth, I shouldn't tell you that we ought to hev a new set of teaspoons or that there are three holes in the dishpan, but I'm goin fur, fur away, and your second wife won't put up with things as I hev. We are still sleepin on the same feather bed mother gave me when we was married, and the feathers ought to hev new tickin. If I was to live on, I could make the old sheets do fur a year more; but, as it is, I guess you'll hev to buy at least two. You ought to hev some pil-larslips too. Down cellar you'll find half a barrel of soft soap, two jars of peach pickles and six gallons of apple butter. I hope your second wife will be as careful of 'em as I hev bin. Many a time I hev wanted a peach pickle in the middle of the afternoon, but I wouldn't go down arter it and be a pig. Did I tell you about the cider vinegar, Samuel?"

Mr. Gallup was holding his breath over the statement that the Wiggins washer washed a shirt for the governor of Arizona in 13 seconds, and of course he didn't answer.

"The cider vinegar ain't no good, Samuel. It didn't work, and you might as well throw it away. Before you marry ag'in you ought to fix the leak in the roof, git a new pump for the well, whitewash the kitchen and buy a new mop handle. First wifes can git along most any way and make one mop last for 20 years, but second wifes begin to kick right away. I ain't tellin you these things because I'm jealous, Samuel, but because it's my duty as a dyin wife. I don't want you to hev to go huntin the house all over after I'm gone to find things. Remember, your dyin wife, who hain't asked you to buy her a hairpin for 17 years, tells you that you've got three shirts, four pairs of socks, five collars and two handkerchiefs in the bureau, and hangin up in the clothespress is two old suits and one old hat. In the top drawer of the bureau you'll find a piece of crape for your hat, and in the bottom drawer is some farewell verses I writ out a year ago. I don't owe none of the nayburs no tea or coffee or sugar, and none of 'em owes me anything. Now, that's all, and if you want to kiss me and say you're sorry I've got to go and hope I'll watch over you, why, then I'm ready."

She looked full at Mr. Gallup for the first time. His eyes were still glued to that pamphlet. It was stated that the Wiggins washer was so constructed that it could be attached to a potato slicer or an apple parer and no reader's interest could help but grow.

Mrs. Gallup waited 60 seconds for an answer, and then as none came she softly rose up and went out into the kitchen and began to get things ready for breakfast. She had been gone ten minutes when Mr. Gallup smiled. He didn't smile because he heard her singing a verse of "The Old Oaken Bucket," but because Mr. Wiggins finished his pamphlet with the declaration that no matter who wrote the poetry of America, he proposed to wash the shirts of the nation.

She Was Ahead.

Marjorie had just returned from a visit to the old homestead in Tennessee, where a colored nurse nearly 100 years old was still an inmate. It puzzled her that Chloe should be called "auntie" by her mother and the family, but at last she accepted the fact and did likewise. Her playmates, trooping in to welcome her home, began to enumerate their possessions acquired during her absence.

"I've got a black pony," crowed Charlie exultantly.

"I've got a new baby brother," cried Jessie.

"M'm! That's nothing; I've got two of 'em," retorted Fred.

Marjorie's eyes flashed. "Oh!" she cried. "I've got a heap more'n that; I've got an auntie as old as Mefusela and black as tar." —Leslie's Weekly.

THE EVENING NEWS REVIEW.

16TH YEAR. NO. 197.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 30, 1901.

TWO CENTS

STEINJOHANN PASSED AWAY

While He Was Being Taken From
the Train to the City
Hall.

CAKE FROM SOLDIERS' HOME

And Was Going to Make a Visit
With His Family In This
City

INVESTIGATION WILL BE MADE

George Steinjohann, known to almost every one in the city as George Boulton, died this morning while being conveyed from the Cleveland & Pittsburg passenger station to city hall in the patrol.

The old gentleman had been an inmate of the Dayton Soldier's Home for several years, save for an occasional visit home, and on this last occasion had been at that institution since last March. Yesterday the family received a letter from him stating that he would arrive in this city at 8 o'clock this evening, but it is thought he changed his mind and started earlier.

The local ticket agent received a telegram from some point along the main line announcing that he was very ill on the east bound accommodation, and when the train arrived the ambulance was ready to convey him to his home. The information received by Chief Morley was from the Pennsylvania agent in this city and was to the effect merely that there was a sick soldier on the train, so that, although he was identified as soon as he got in, those in charge were at a loss to know where his family lived.

John Boulton, a son, was communicated with from city hall, where the body was brought, and soon afterward was given in charge of the undertaker. The remains were taken to the home of his wife in Dixonville, and the funeral will be held Friday afternoon, interment being held in Riverview cemetery, with Rev. G. W. Orcutt officiating.

Deceased was a resident of East Liverpool for many years, having come here shortly after returning from the United States navy, in which he served during the rebellion. He also served in the German navy. Deceased leaves a wife, four sons, Louis, John, Levi, Charles and two daughters, Gertrude and Ella, to mourn his death.

After coming to this county Steinjohann enlisted under Dupont and served during the rebellion on board the Wabash and the monitors. After the war he settled in Pennsylvania and later came to Ohio and located at West Point, from which place he came to this city. He secured employment at the Globe pottery and worked there until he left for the Soldier's Home.

The family of the deceased are inclined to believe there is something mysterious about his death and will make every effort to investigate.

A letter dated January 26 was received from him, in which he said he would be home on Wednesday evening and would draw his pension of $36 on Tuesday. When the body was searched but 75 cents was found, and the family do not think that the pension money was spent by Steinjohann.

Must Have Long Franchise.
U. J. Smith, the promoter of the proposed Salem and East Liverpool street railway, was in the city yesterday. The application of the company to the county commissioners is for a 50-year franchise, and it will no doubt be granted, as the line will not be built under a shorter franchise, as the cost per mile is too heavy. The people are willing if the line is only built.

STRANGE STORY FROM COLUMBUS

Speaks of the Millionaire Jury
Which Heard That Oleomar
garine Case Here.

SOMETHING OF A FAKE

The Story Says the Combined
Wealth of the Jury Aggre-
gated Four Million.

JURORS WILL BE SURPRISED

The members of the jury that tried the oleomargarine case in this city will be considerably surprised to learn that they made up the wealthiest jury ever impaneled in Ohio, but there is a possibility that a story in the Ohio State Journal is wrong.

The story is headed, "Wealthiest Jury Ever Impaneled in Ohio Tries a Butterine Case," and is as follows:

"Manager Purrung, of the Capital City Dairy company, has returned from East Liverpool, where he has been to look after a case in which Edwin Oppelt, a grocer, was arrested for selling colored oleomargarine.

"Mr. Purrung says that the jury in the case probably represented more combined wealth than any other ever impaneled in Ohio. The justice sent his constable out with orders to get a good jury, and he summoned all the big pottery manufacturers of the town.

"According to the ratings of the commercial agencies, the combined wealth of the men on the jury aggregated almost $4,000,000. Oppelt was acquitted."

This would only give to each juror something over $333,000 each, but it is not probable that each would have an equal share of the $4,000,000. The News Review would like the citizens to apportion the amount among the jurymen who tried the case. They are as follows:

Smith Fowler, J. J. Weisend, G. W. Allison, S. R. Dixon, William Kinney, John Kerr, John Rinehart, Matthew Anderson, M. H. Bough, S. C. Cartwright, J. E. Anderson and A. J. Moon.

The jurymen will probably be surprised that their combined wealth amounts to $4,000,000, and may begin to speculate as a result.

Settled the Case.

The case of Charles Green and Berg Goddard has been settled to the satisfaction of all but Goddard, who was not altogether pleased.

Green claimed that some money was due him for board, but Goddard claimed that he was doing some work for his board.

DAMAGE CASE

AGAINST GRIM AND JOHNSON
NOW OUT OF COURT.

Pearl Broome Filed it on the Grounds
That He Had Been Kept in Jail Too Long.

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—The $1,000 damage case brought by Pearl Broome against Arthur Grim, J. D. West, Smith Fowler, A. J. Johnson, E. J. Smith and S. M. Ferguson was dismissed from the file. Broome claimed damages by reason of having been detained in prison on February 18, 1899.

DIVORCE ACTIONS.

Both of Them Dismissed from Docket
for Want of Prosecution.

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special.)—Mrs. Celia Dingledy, of Salem, was given an allowance of alimony against John Dingledy, of Youngstown, in the sum of $105 payable on February 1 and $30 each month. Dingledy was married to the plaintiff in 1888 in Youngstown and three children were born. Mrs. Dingledy claims that her husband has threatened to kill her on numerous occasions.

The defendant is a Youngstown hardware merchant and is said to be worth $40,000.

RALPH WOOLEY

TO GO TO WORKS

The Mayor Only Fined Him the Small Sum of $20 and Costs.

HE IS A VERY BAD BOY

And Has Annoyed the City Authorities on Several Other Occasions.

THE GRAND JURY WANTS HIM

Ralph Wooley, the 17-year-old boy who was arrested yesterday by Chief Thompson, is still in jail, and it is a question now as to whether he will go to Lisbon or to the work house.

Wooley has been in jail here three times, and has become a confirmed nuisance to the city authorities. Yesterday when he faced Mayor Davidson he was fined $20 and costs and sentenced to the Canton work house until his fine and costs are paid.

Later in the day he was served with a subpoena to appear before the grand jury, which is now in session at Lisbon, in order that an effort might be made to find out where he procured his liquor. Wooley does not have the necessary cash to take him to Lisbon and the mayor is now waiting to find out what shall be done in the matter, and if the county will stand the expense of having to go before the grand jury.

If Wooley is taken to Lisbon he will still remain a prisoner and as soon as he tells what he knows to the grand jury he will be taken to the Canton work house to serve out his sentence. It will mean several months for him at hard labor, and it is hoped that before he returns he will have made up his mind to be good and behave himself.

PULPIT AND PRESS WILL YET UNITE AGAINST DRINK TRAFFIC

Rev. W. H. Sniff, of Cleveland, Preached a Strong Sermon on "Battles For the Church Militant"

The following extract from a sermon on "Battles for the Church Militant," by Rev. W. H. Sniff, of the Franklin Circle Disciple church of Cleveland was printed in the Cleveland Leader and is well worth reading:

"The signs of the times point to a suppression of the legalized liquor traffic. The war cloud in that direction becomes every day more threatening. Judgment has begun at the house of God. The preacher or priest who is not himself a total abstainer from intoxicating drink and an unrelenting enemy of the gigantic evil is unworthy his position of leadership and traitor to Jesus Christ. He may boast of being in the succession, but he is a delict or a coward. Because the church ought to be the friend of all good, and because the saloon is the ally of all evil, the two cannot remain in peace unless the church denies her Lord and covers her name with shame. The church militant is in the world to fight, not to feast, to cry out against wrong, not to cringe before it.

"There were never before so many encouragements for the cause of righteousness in this direction as now. Public sentiment is against the liquor traffic as never before. Regardless of past views and present party affiliations men are declaring themselves in favor of the suppression of this sum of all villainies. Never before in the history of this agitation has a prominent and powerful newspaper spoken out in editorial language so fearlessly and worthily as the Leader has recently done, and a moral obligation rests upon all true Christian people to give such an effort unqualified support. This worthy work on the part of the Leader is prophetic of a time when pulpit, platform and press shall unite in battle against the greatest foe of civilization. Philanthropist and patriot must declare war against the destroyer of manhood's strength and the despoiler of womanhood's happiness and virtue. Silence is connivance or cowardice. Indifference is culpable, if not criminal. Shall the church still wait, occupied and satisfied with her 'thumb-worn creeds,' her loud professions, and her little deeds, while other agencies are espousing the cause of righteousness? I do not believe it. Without malice toward persons, without fear or compromise toward evil, let all good people engage in this irrepressible conflict until civilization shall be free from this monstrous iniquity.

"Closely related to the drink habit is another evil which must be dealt with in this country. There has been much preparation for the reform, but the agitation has been limited and spasmodic. We have scarcely chosen a point of attack. The evil lurks in dark places, or disguises itself in fine clothes and manners. It is widespread and treacherous. It concerns individual character and the sanctity of the joys and blessings of the home. It is the 'social evil' in the broadest application of that term. The evil is difficult to define, the remedy is clear. Equal standards of moral character for man and woman in all things must be demanded in order to the elevation of both man and woman. Heathenism presents few things more revolting than the double standard of virtue prevailing in civilized countries.

Any defense of this condition of society is born of selfishness and lust. It is impossible to imagine the wretchedness which would characterize our people, except by contemplation of pagan lands, had we no higher standards of life and conduct for women than we now have for men. I deny the possible charge of being a

"Arizona" Will be Presented at the Grand on the Evening of Feb. 7.

Local theater goers may now prepare themselves for a trip to Arizona without undergoing the tedium of a long and monotonous railroad journey, for the play of "Arizona" is soon to be presented here with all the atmosphere and virility of that great territory of the west. There is a wholesome pleasure in this stirring picture of life in the great Mojave country, where the soldier and ranchmen are the men who dominate, and where the women, if they know the dance, also know the saddle and the gun. However, not everything is rough in this west which Mr. Thomas introduces in "Arizona." If the men are given to the occasional use of vigorous language, as the men who fight the battles and make the empires and republic have been in every time, they have their gentler side—they have other traits of character. Henry Canby, proprietor of Canby's ranch, in the Aravaipa valley, states the whole case when he says:

"That's Arizona. We're a little shy on water, but there is as much charity for woman as you can round up in the gospel of St. John."

His Father is Still Living.

A communication received from Thomas McCann, who went to New Martinsville several days ago on account of the illness of his aged father, states that the gentleman is still living, although the end is expected at any moment.

SHOULD LOOK AFTER TWO LIGHTS IN THE SUBURBS.

The Incandescent is Never Lit, While the Gasoline is Not Much Better.

Editor News Review—Will you call the attention of the light committee to the fact that there are two lights between Pleasant and Eighth street (Carpenter's run road). We would be delighted were even one of these kept going. As it is, one (incandescent) has not been in use for months. The other, a gasoline, averages being lit say twice in seven nights. This is a dangerous strip and the city may have damages to pay one of these dark nights. Then possibly we may get two more lights, none of the four being lit.

EAST END.

A SURVEY

IS BEING MADE OF LAND IN EAST END.

The Purpose is to Fix Boundaries and New Line Fences Will be Built.

The engineering force which has been engaged for the past few days laying new lines on the farm of T. J. Andrews, upper East End, it is thought will complete their work today.

New boundaries are being fixed and when the work is completed new line fences will be built. A plan is also being formed which will fix the route of a new boulevard to join that contemplated by the parties in control of the new park. However, the main object in the survey is to satisfy the owners just where they stand, as it has been many years since the lines have been gone over. The farm is a valuable piece of property and it is probable that some time in the future it will be platted and the lots sold to those wishing to locate in that part of the city.

Danger of a Slip.

The Dixonville road is in a dangerous condition and when the first thaw comes, from the appearance of things just now, a slide will occur.

At the junction of that road and the new street being graded on the Smith property there has lately been deposited a large quantity of new ground, and it is likely a slip will occur when the frost is out of the ground.

A Business Meeting.

The official board of the Second Methodist Episcopal church held a business meeting at the church last evening.

Peculiarities of X Rays.

There are many curious things about X rays which seem to puzzle even the scientists. Signor Brigitte, who has been making experiments with them in Rome, says that the visibility of a substance to the eye is no criterion of its visibility to the X rays. The rays cannot see through glass, which is transparent to the eye, whereas aluminum, which is opaque to the eye, is transparent to the X rays. The rays can see a splinter of glass in the hand, but not a splinter of wood. Most inks are transparent to the rays, including printer's ink, but some of them are opaque. The rays can see through a postoffice directory, but if a paper with words written on it be put in the middle of the directory the rays will reveal these words and nothing behind them.

Frequent Vaccination.

Although almost absolute immunity is secured for a period of six months by vaccination, there is no certainty that its effects will continue beyond that time. In the majority of cases it does, but the interval for which this additional benefit is enjoyed is variable. Hence those who have studied the matter most carefully recommend a fresh operation if more than six months have elapsed since the last one, if a person is liable to be subjected to peril, as in time of an epidemic.

PASSING OF THE BELL.

No Longer Used to Record the Joys and Sorrows of Humanity.

The solemn and impressive custom of announcing death by the tolling of the church bell will soon be but a vague and distant memory. "The passing bell" has itself passed away, and its slow measured accents no longer tell the story of the departure of one more soul. The brief notice in the daily paper, while it conveys explicit information, fails to give something that the bell's tolling carried with it. The solemn rhythmic tones awakened a momentary vibration in the breast of each listener and bade each pause for sympathy and meditation. The bell admonished the sinner to repent and warned the thoughtless that time was flying while it spoke clearly and comprehensively and bade all scattered and preoccupied inhabitants attend its story.

The bell's voice is identified with all the deepest and most sacred human emotions. It has spoken the joys and sorrows of all mankind for centuries. Is its voice to die away and have no part in the life of the future? The wedding bells ring out no more save in some song or story. The Christmas chimes are seldom wafted to our ears. The church bells ring but faintly now and under constant protest. "The curfew tolls the knell of parting day" only in verse. A sunset gun today gives greater satisfaction. The angelus sounds merely in pictorial form, the fire bells give place to still alarms, the dinner bell is silenced in polite society, and sleigh bells are discarded.

What is the future of the bell—that happy silver tongue that has sung out the joys of all the world, that solemn tone that has mourned for the nation's dead and voiced the nation's woes and summoned to their knees the nation's worshipers?—Atlantic Monthly.

Her Wedding "Tower."

An accommodation train on a distant railroad was dragging along, when a long, lean and sallow woman, in what appeared to be subdued bridal finery, leaned across the aisle of the car and said seriously to a lady sitting opposite her:

"Dear me! It's a kind of a solemn thing to be travellin' with two husbands, now, ain't it?"

"I do not know what you mean," replied the lady.

"Oh, mebbe not. Well, you see, my first husband died 'bout a year ago and was buried over in Patrick county, an last week I was married ag'in, an me an my second husband have been over in Patrick county on a little weddin' tower, an I thought I'd kind of like to have my first husband buried in the graveyard nigh where I'm goin to live now, an my second husband was willin', so we tuk my first husband up, an he's in the baggage car along with our other things. My second husband is settin' out on the platform takin' a smoke, an I been settin' here thinkin' how solemn it is to go on a weddin' tower with two husbands. It's a terrible solemn piece of bizness when you come to think of it."—Laurence Lee in Lippincott's Magazine.

Prussian blue does not come to us from Prussia. It is a chemical product of which England makes her full share. Irish stew is not an Irish, but an English dish, and Turkish baths did not originate in Turkey, but in Russia.

Woman's Horror

Modest women dread to consult a doctor about diseases peculiar to their sex. They have a horror of private examinations and surgical operations. For this reason treatment of dangerous derangements is neglected. But the Wine of Cardui treatment, which can be adopted at home without the knowledge of any one but the patient herself, is now coming into general use. Women who take Wine of Cardui do not have to submit to a physician's local examination nor to a surgical operation. Wine of Cardui cures in the privacy of the home. No publicity, no cutting and torture and no physician or examination, while Wine of Cardui is quietly building up and strengthening the female organs. Menstruation is regulated, the drains of leucorrhœa stopped and the fallen womb restored to its place. The terrible pains which rack the body are but results of the ailments, which yield so readily to the soothing properties of Wine of Cardui. The medicine that cured Miss Garlen will certainly help you.

Wine of Cardui

Rockford, Tenn., Aug. 16, 1896.
I have suffered from womb trouble for five years. Last spring a year ago I was bedfast for six months. I paid $52 to one doctor, and he said he had done all he could for me. I had given up, but called another doctor, who said I would have to have surgical treatment. I decided I might as well die a natural death as that. I happened to get hold of a Ladies' Birthday Almanac, and nine days after I commenced taking Wine of Cardui and Black-Draught I could walk across my room, and in three weeks I made myself a dress. This was after my neighbors, and even my brothers and sisters, said I would never be any better. I am now in good health.

BROADWAY.

The youngsters were having a grand time coasting on Broadway this afternoon, and seemed to be as happy as mortals can be. One lad had a sled whose runners were made of four skates, and he was strictly in the swim or glide. The boys did their best to avoid any trouble with vehicles or horsemen, and acted like good little men.

A good and true man will always attempt to do this, even if he accomplishes the desired end but very slowly, making small payments at stated intervals. The average business man will not only accept these small payments when he understands the situation, but will admire and trust and aid the man whom he thus ascertains is square and true and honest.

PRIZE FIGHTERS.

Down at Cincinnati the conservative and law abiding element are doing fierce battle against prize fighters and prize fighting, with the promise of success. Up in Pittsburg they have just pulled off a fierce prize fight, where blood flowed freely and the toughs were in their glory. The only difference is in the two states, and the fact that two of the bruisers are heavy weights and the other two light weights.

OUR SCHOOL CHILDREN.

We have a very fair representation of the average school children of the United States now on duty at our Fourth street school building. Professor Rayman can rejoice in the fact that, while they are full of life and spirit and fun, the large majority of them show, by their conduct, that they are not animated by a spirit of malice or wickedness. The writer enjoys immensely their antics and cute sayings, as he passes the building to and fro, en route for meals or for office. Let the youngsters have all the innocent enjoyment they possibly can. The cares and sorrows and troubles of life will come all too soon.

HOLINESS MEN.

Talking over the matter of holiness, or sanctification, we made the remark the other day, to a well-known professor of the faith: "We met two holiness men today, and they were having a hot word fight or controversy." The professor made reply: "Oh, no you didn't; such a thing is an impossibility; fighting of that class and holiness do not dwell together; holiness and peace dwell together; the fighting element you speak of was an intruder; and in case the said men were doing battle in an unseemly quarrel, or in bickering and strife, they had, at least temporarily, fallen from grace, and they certainly need a fresh dip or a new application of the spirit of brotherly love."

THE DEAD BEAT.

We have a few of him in East Liverpool, in common with all industrial centers of like size and population. But the most contemptible shyster in this class is the fellow who beats his board bill and room rent, and usually seeks as his victim a widow woman who is battling to make a bare living by thus catering to the public. A widow woman of this city entered the News Review office last night and made complaint of this character against a fellow whom she claims owes her quite a nice little sum for room rent, and makes no apparent effort to meet the obligation. She further asserts that he has been playing his little game with other parties in this city, moving from place to place, apparently living up to the axiom that "it is cheaper to move than to pay rent." The widow in question is a true lady, and her word can be relied upon. She states that, in consequence of this fellow's rascality, she has been unable to meet her rent this month in full, and so informed her landlord, and the latter has promised to make it warm for this particular dead beat, as he knows him well, and is aware of the fact that he makes great pretensions along the line of honor and honesty. The lady has been advised to sue the fellow, and bring him into open court, where full testimony can be taken and his name given to the public, in order that others may not be defrauded and that the shyster will be compelled to pay his indebtedness in the future. We await developments.

THE TRUTH

In Regard to the Recent Trouble at the Bell School House.

On last Monday Oscar Birch withdrew his suit in Squire Davis' court against Thomas Croft, teacher at the Bell school, and paid the costs in the case.

The trouble as it now appears was originated by the St. Clair township school board.

Said honorable board refused to hire the teacher, Thomas Crofts, for the spring term, because of the misrepresentations of a few chronic grumblers and kickers, notwithstanding the fact that Crofts was unanimously supported by the local district board.

Encouraged by this Oscar Birch and his four sons undertook to run the teacher out. On Monday of last week Viro, the youngest boy, was told at recess to remain in to be corrected for viciously throwing a large clinker at the teacher. The other three boys also remained, showing a disposition to make trouble, one of them carrying a revolver. On being ordered out, two of them went, one remaining with Viro. The door was then locked. The two boys having armed themselves with the poker, shovel and broom, they made at the teacher. To scare them Crofts took up a hatchet kept there for cutting wood, having also a light switch in his hand for chastising the younger boy. The boys being alarmed at this dropped the poker and shovel and started to run. The teacher thereupon laid down the hatchet and started to chastise Viro, upon which the older boy again took up the poker and shovel and threw them at Crofts, the shovel striking his brother Viro on the head and making a bad cut. Seeing this Crofts released the boy, unlocked the door and told them to go.

The Birches charge that the cut was made with the hatchet, on which ground Birch brought suit against Crofts.

WONDERFUL MEETINGS

The Revival Services Still Continue at the First Methodist Episcopal Church.

The pastor, Dr. Clark Crawford, had charge of the services last night. The meeting was a delight to Christian men and women. Testimonials as to the happiness of individuals engaged in the service of the Master were first on the program, old folks, middle aged folks and young folks adding their tribute to the efficiency of the blood of the Son of God. The pastor then made a brief but impressive exhortation, after which seekers for salvation from their sins were invited to the mercy seat.

A notable feature of last night's services rested in the fact that while there were but six seekers forward, five of the six were men, four of the number in the full vigor of a bright and promising young manhood, while one, the fifth seeker, is between sixty and seventy years of age. Absolutely intense interest was manifested all through this meeting. There was no great amount of noise or enthusiasm; but each one participating at the altar, as helpers or seekers, seemed weighted down with the fact that the occasion was one of the deepest responsibility and impressiveness. This fact was afterward confirmed in conversation with working members of the church.

The meetings will be continued indefinitely. Services tonight, at the usual hour. Pastor and people extend to you a hearty invitation to take part. "Come, and we will do thee good."

COURT HAS ALSO ADJOURNED

Bar to Attend John Mar-

A CIRCUIT COURT CASE SETTLED

Lisbon, Jan. 30.—(Special)—Court adjourned last evening until the morning of Wednesday, February 6, to which time the jury has been excused. The adjournment during the early part of next week is owing to the John Marshall banquet at Columbus, which will be attended by a large number of the county attorneys.

The petit jury was empanelled Tuesday afternoon to find in the case of Annie Reed against W. M. Calhoun, executor of the estate of the late Thomas Smith, of East Liverpool. The deceased left a will bequeathing certain farm lands to the plaintiff and she brought the suit, claiming that certain lines had been inserted in the will which affected her rights. The jury returned a verdict in her favor, finding that the paper was the last will and testament of the deceased, but that the same was materially altered after the testator's signature was affixed. The will leaves to the plaintiff 200 acres of land on which she now retires. The jury found that the words interlined in the will are null and void and of no effect.

A FAMOUS BANK NOTE.

The One That Cruikshank Drew and the Crowds It Drew.

One day about the year 1818 George Cruikshank was passing Newgate on his way to the exchange, when seeing a crowd collected, he went forward to learn what was the matter and saw that it was the execution of several men and women. He was horrified at the spectacle and on inquiring learned that the woman was being hanged for passing counterfeit £1 notes. He learned also that this punishment was quite a common thing, even though the poor wretches often sinned ignorance, being the dupes of men who sent them to buy some trifles and return the change to them. Wrung with pity and with shame, Cruikshank went home and immediately, under the inspiration of his feeling, sketched a grotesque caricature of a bank note. He called it a bank restriction note—not to be imitated. He represented on it a place of execution, with spaces about filled in with halters and manacles, a figure of Britannia devouring her children and transport ships bearing the lucky or unlucky ones who had escaped death to Van Diemen's Land or Australia, while in place of the well known signature of Abraham Newland was that of "J. Ketch."

He had just finished this, when his publisher Hone entered, and seeing it, begged to have it for publication. So Cruikshank etched it and gave it to Hone, who exhibited it for sale in his window with startling effect. Crowds quickly began to gather and purchased so eagerly that the issue was soon exhausted.

Cruikshank was kept hard at work making more etchings, the crowds grew so great that the street was blocked, and the mayor had to send soldiers to clear it. Hone realized over £700 in a few days.—Good Words.

BRITISH BANK CLERKS.

Sumptuary Laws Trying on Those With Slim Purse.

Bank clerks generally look so sleek and comfortable and are almost invariably so well groomed that their grievances rarely receive patient hearing.

One who was recently dismissed for the terrible crime of smoking a pipe in a city cafe during one of the hours sacred to what is called by city courtesy lunch writes, giving a list of restrictions which he declares are absurd.

No clerk is allowed to smoke a pipe in the streets during banking hours or at lunch.

The average clerk's salary is not so very high, but nevertheless he must wear a silk hat and cane to the office, dressed as one with double the salary. Wearing a cap to business is not to be thought of, as it is an unpardonable offense in the eyes of the bank officials.

The salary of the average bank clerk ranges from about 38 shillings a week, but in many banks the salary is much lower and the chances of promotion very small.

A clerk's money is greatly diminished by his having to subscribe to numerous funds, such as a "sports" fund, to keep the cricket or football grounds in order, which he himself is never able to see.

Saturday is no holiday for him, as he does not leave the office on those days until about 4 or 5 o'clock.

It must not be supposed that the day's work of a bank clerk ends with the closing of the bank to customers. In fact, it only begins at that time.—London Express.

Why Cables Get Tired.

There has been some question, says The Electrical Engineer, as to the reason why certain cables lose their conducting properties and have in some instances to be replaced. A learned Frenchman has submitted a paper on the subject to the Academie des Sciences. In this paper he states that when cables lose their electrical properties it is because they are always used for one kind of current only, either positive or negative. If used sometimes for positive and sometimes for negative, they will, he states, preserve their conductive qualities indefinitely. Experiments with nine wires running from Paris to Dijon demonstrated this, he says.

The double letter is scarcely of use in any language. Sometimes we are purely inconsistent. Letter must have two t's, literal one. The double letter very seldom affects the pronunciation. Would it not be well to drop the double letter altogether? It would simplify spelling and save time too.

AN ENDURING CURSE.

A Famous English Family That Perished by Fire and Water.

The attempt of the Midhurst district council to convert the famous "Close Walks"—four old yew avenues—at Cowdray, in Sussex, into an arrangement of sewage tanks recalls a creepy story of a fulfilled curse. At the dissolution of the monasteries Sir Anthony Browne obtained a grant of Battle Abbey and the priory of Eastbourne, the parish in which the ruins of Cowdray are situated, and according to a picturesque tradition one of the monks cursed him to his face and prophesied that "by fire and water" his race should perish out of the land. What foundation there may be for the story no man can say, but unquestionably the Brownes did so perish.

George Samuel Browne, eighth Viscount Mountague and owner of Cowdray, who was engaged to Miss Coutts, sister to Lady Burdett-Coutts' mother, was drowned in the falls of Laufenburg in 1793. The messenger who brought the news to England met one going to Germany to inform Lord Mountague that Cowdray had been burned! He was succeeded by a distant relative, a Roman priest, who was dispensed from his vows that he might marry and continue the line, but he died a few months afterward and the title became extinct. The estates went to the drowned viscount's sister, whose two sons were drowned together at Bognor in 1815. It is a weird story.—London Chronicle.

IMPRESSIVE FUNERAL.

Conditional Arrangements to Honor Dead Queen.

KING MAY LOOK OVER PLANS TODAY

He Arrived at the Capital City, and Is to Consider Proposed Details of the Pageant—Naval Preparations Great—Archbishop to Prepare Memorial Service.

Cowes, Isle of Wight, Jan. 30.—King Edward left Cowes, for London.

The Duke of Cornwall and York had been confined to his room since Thursday. It was feared, on Tuesday, he would be unable to take part in the ceremonies on Friday.

The only American wreath which has arrived at Osborne so far is one from Mrs. Sidney Everett, of Boston, who is staying on the Isle of Wight. It is inscribed:

"In token of lifelong veneration and reverence."

The outer coffin arrived Monday night. The non-commissioned officers detailed to carry the coffin rehearsed Monday with a dummy coffin filled with sand and weighing over half a ton.

Crown Prince Frederick, of Denmark, is expected to arrive in London today.

German Ships Sailed.

Prince Henry of Prussia sailed from Kiel Monday on board the German battleship Baden, accompanied by the coast defense ship Hagen.

Prince George of Saxony is prevented by influenza from coming to the funeral. Prince John George will take his place.

Duke Albrecht will represent the King of Wurtemburg.

The Crown Prince Ferdinand of Roumania is expected Thursday night in London.

The Orleans family will be represented by the Duke of Chartres, younger brother of the late Count of Paris; the Duke of Alencon and the Count of Eu, sons of the late Duke of Nemours, between whom and the late queen, in 1838, Louise Philippe tried to arrange a marriage.

The coffin will be borne from Osborne house by the queen's Highlanders, Friday, about 1:45 p. m., to a gun carriage. The household of the late queen, the royal servants and the tenantry, will be drawn up on the carriage drive. The queen's pipers will lead the procession through the king's gate to Trinity pier. There will be an imposing military display along the route, massed bands and drummers playing funeral marches.

Behind the coffin will walk Admiral Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, first and principal aide de camp to the queen since 1899; the king, Emperor William, the Duke of Connaught, Crown Prince Frederick William of Germany, the Duke of York, Prince Henry of Prussia, Prince Christian of Schleswig-Holstein, and other princes. Then will come Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of York and other princesses. Blue jackets will bear the coffin from the pier to the royal yacht Alberta, where Admiral Culme-Seymour, four naval aides de camp and two ladies in waiting will accompany the remains.

Will Accompany Body on Yacht.

The king, queen, Emperor William and other members of the royal family will embark on board the royal yacht Victoria and Alberta.

London, Jan. 30.—King Edward and the Duke of Cambridge arrived in London. A large crowd welcomed the king at Victoria station.

Tuesday there was a rehearsal along the route of the funeral procession. The eight Hanoverian horses which will draw the gun carriage took a heavily laden brake, estimated to be the weight of the gun carriage and coffin, over the route. Numerous carriages followed and a number of mounted men, representing the foreign princes and others who will ride in the procession.

It has been arranged that the Eton boys will line the route from the Long Walk gates to Windsor castle, while the military knights of Windsor will be on duty in the chapel during the funeral services.

It was understood the funeral in London may be approximately about as follows:

A sovereign's escort of 100 life guards, the massed bands of three regiments of foot guards, Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters staff, an army gun carriage with the body, the king, supported by the German emperor; the king of Portugal, and the other reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence; the Dukes of Connaught and York, the equerries and aids de camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and other royal princesses, in four carriages, deeply draped, and in the rear of the procession, another sovereign's escort of 100 life guards. It is estimated that 60 royal princes will participate in the procession.

As the funeral will be of a military character there probably will be no pallbearers, although, possibly, at Windsor certain generals will act in this capacity while the coffin is being carried up the nave of St. George's chapel.

For the first time since his accession the king's train Tuesday was preceded by a pilot engine. His majesty was vociferously cheered on his way to Marlborough house.

Special Memorial Service Ordered.

The privy council ordered the archbishop of Canterbury to prepare a special form of service, in commemoration of the queen, to be used in all churches in the kingdom Saturday.

The Duke and Duchess of Aosta will arrive here Jan. 31.

Mr. Joseph Chamberlain was among the king's visitors this afternoon.

The malady from which the Duke of Cornwall and York is suffering is the German measles.

Duke Johann Albrecht of Mecklenburg-Schwerin was taken down with the measles about 10 days ago.

In London active preparations were being made all along the route. Houses are being draped and seating accommodation is being provided. A committee of ladies has obtained permission to hang wreaths of evergreen along the line, one to be affixed to each lamp post, and all being three feet in diameter and of uniform pattern.

Of all the ceremonies no doubt the naval likely will be a fine pageant. According to the arrangements, the Alberta, with the body, will slowly steam along a line of battleships extending about eight miles. Facing these giants of the British navy will be smaller vessels and some foreign guns of the ships will be fired as the yacht bearing the body traverses the distance through the lines of ships.

King Edward received Lord Salisbury and several other members of the cabinet Tuesday at Marlborough house. He will hold a privy council at St. James palace today to sanction finally the arrangements for the funeral and then will return immediately to Osborne.

The wreath sent by the King of Portugal was so large that it could not be placed in the Chapel Ardent. It is in the form of a cushion of violets, supporting a cross surmounted by a crown of lilies of the valley.

The Mikado wired such imperative orders to the Japanese legation for the presence of a Japanese warship at the naval display that the battleship Hatsuse, which was being completed at the Elsewick works, Newcastle, one of the largest battleships in the world, having 15,200 displacement, sailed for Portsmouth, although hardly in condition to go.

Inscription on Queen's Coffin.

The following is the inscription on the coffin of Queen Victoria:

DEPOSITUM
PRINCIPIS
VICTORIAE
DEI GRATIA BRITANNIARUM
REGINIAE
ET INDIE IMPERATRICIS
OBITU XXII
DIE JANUARII
ANNO DOMINI MDCCCCI
AETATIS SUAE LXXXII
REGNIQUE SUI LXIV.

The following is the order of the foreign warships at the pageant:

The Baden, Prince Henry of Prussia's warship; the Hagen, the Victoria Luiz and the Nympha, German; the Dupuy de Lome, French; the Hatsuse, Japanese, and the Don Carlos I, Portuguese.

About 3,500 troops, it was expected, will be engaged in the procession from Osborne to Cowes. About 10,000 volunteers, it was expected, will be employed along the line of route in London, in addition to 20,000 regulars. Some disappointment is likely to be caused by the statement that no photographs will be allowed to be taken of the procession from Osborne to Cowes.

It has been arranged that the Eton boys will line the route from the Long Walk gates to Windsor castle, while the military knights of Windsor will be on duty in the chapel during the funeral services.

It was understood the funeral in London may be approximately about as follows:

A sovereign's escort of 100 life guards, the massed bands of three regiments of foot guards, Field Marshal Earl Roberts and the headquarters staff, an army gun carriage with the body, the king, supported by the German emperor; the king of Portugal, and the other reigning sovereigns in the order of precedence; the Dukes of Connaught and York, the equerries and aids de camp in attendance on royal personages; Queen Alexandra, the Duchess of Saxe-Coburg and Gotha and other royal princesses, in four carriages, deeply draped, and in

AMERICAN SYMPATHY.

In Constantinople, They Passed Resolutions on Queen's Death.

Constantinople, Jan. 30.—The Americans in Constantinople met at the United States legation under the presidency of the United States chargé d'affaires, Mr. Lloyd C. Griscom, and adopted a resolution of sympathy with the royal family and people of Great Britain proposed by Dr. Washburn. The resolution concluded as follows:

"We are proud to share in the mother country's admiration and affection for Queen Victoria, and we owe her a special debt of gratitude because of her unvarying sympathy with and friendship for our own country."

TO PREVENT A NUISANCE

Suit to Enjoin Proposed Prizefight Began at Cincinnati—Prominent Attorneys Engaged.

Cincinnati, Jan. 30.—Suit was begun before Judge Howard Hollister, of the common pleas court, to enjoin the proposed Jeffries-Ruhlin contest here Feb. 15. This proceeding is in the name of the state by Attorney General Sheets, at the direction of Governor Nash. It is understood, however, that the real instigators are the ministers and other elements of this city who are opposed to having the fight take place here and who resorted to every other means before this proceeding in the state court. The petition that was filed declares the proposed prize fight to be a nuisance, and a restraining order is wanted on that account rather than under any of the sections of the Ohio statutes pertaining to prize fights.

No application for an injunction was made, as it is desired first to have notices served on the defendants, so as to have a hearing on the merits of the case.

Arguments may be made on the application for an injunction on Thursday, when the attorneys for the opponents of the fight will attempt to show that a contest for a heavyweight championship of the world is not such as can come under the Ohio statutes. They will then show what they mean by a petition to enjoin a nuisance. Those seeking to prevent the fight have engaged a formidable array of legal talent, including Judge Johnson Harmon, who was attorney general under Cleveland; Gustave Wald, John W. Warrington, Lawrence Maxwell, Jr., formerly solicitor general of the United States; E. W. Kittredge and J. W. Herron.

Jeffries and Ruhlin, who were arrested Monday night and held in $1,000 bond, will have their hearing on Thursday. Very little interest is taken in this proceeding in the court of Squire Roebling, as it is understood to be a friendly action under section 7.117 of the Ohio statutes, and that the defendants will be released after the hearing on Thursday.

It is even currently reported that this action was taken by friends of the promoters of the fight in order to forestall such action on the part of others.

ANTI-LAMP MANDATE.

Gasoline Lamps Ordered Discontinued In Ohio.

STATE STATUTES VERY POSITIVE.

All Manufacturers of the Lamps In the State Ordered to Cease Making Them, by the State Oil Inspectors—May Be Fought In Courts.

Toledo, O., Jan. 30.—State Oil Inspectors Frank L. Baird, of Toledo, and John R. Mallow, of Columbus, issued a positive mandate that all manufacturers of gasoline lamps in the state must discontinue such manufacture and use at once.

There are several large factories in Ohio and many thousand users. It is intended to serve notice on all at first, and if the order is not obeyed in reasonable time radical measures will be inaugurated. It is anticipated that the manufacturers will fight the matter through the courts. The statutes of Ohio are very positive on the subject, but have never been made effective by former state oil inspectors.

TO GALLANT TENTH DEAD.

Resolution For Monument to Pennsylvania Heroes Introduced In Pennsylvania Senate—Other Proceedings.

Harrisburg, Jan. 30.—The senate adopted a concurrent resolution presented by Mr. Cummings, of Warren, providing for the appointment of a commission to be known as the Keystone State Commission of the Pan-American Exposition, and making an appropriation of $35,000 to cover the expenses for the commission and for the erection of a suitable state building at the exposition grounds at Buffalo. The resolution provides for the appointment of three senators, five representatives and five citizens of the state. The president pro tem. of the senate, the speaker of the house and the governor shall also be members of the commission.

The house resolution favoring the passage by congress of the Grout oleomargarine bill was adopted.

The protest presented at the opening of the present session protesting against the seating of Senator Drury, of Luzerne, which has been lying on the table pending the appointment of the standing committees, was referred to the committee on elections.

On motion of Senator Grady the special committee of nine appointed for the purpose of considering bills, in the absence of the standing committees, was discharged, and the bills on which the committee had not yet taken action were referred to appropriate committees.

The senate passed the bill appropriating $5,000 for the finishing of a monument on Mount Zion, in Lancaster county, in memory of Revolutionary soldiers, and authorizing the Ephrata Monument association to use material now in possession of numerous citizens.

A number of bills passed second reading, among them being Senator Fox's bill appropriating $6,000,000 and creating a commission for the completion of the state capitol building, and Senator Grady's bill repealing the libel law of 1897. A number of bills were introduced.

Among the bills introduced was one by Mr. Muehlbrenner, of Allegheny county, appropriating $30,000 for the erection of a monument in memory of the officers and men of the Tenth regiment, U. S. V., who died while the regiment was serving in the Philippines.

There was another flood of appropriation bills in the house and the usual batch of remedial legislation promised the people by the candidates during the campaign. There was also a number of other bills which have been before the public since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary.

Favorable reports were made upon bills brought out of committee establishing the additional common pleas court in Philadelphia and creating a separate orphans' court in Lackawanna county.

MURDERERS SENTENCED.

Killers of Jennie Boscheiter Got Maximum—Judge Said Three Were Fortunately to Escape Gallows.

Paterson, N. J., Jan. 30.—Walter C. McAllister, William A. Death and Andrew J. Campbell, who were found guilty of murder in the second degree for the killing of Jennie Boscheiter, on Oct. 19, 1900, by the administration of chloral and subsequent assault, together with George J. Kerr, who pleaded non vult contende to a charge of assault, were brought into the court of oyer and terminer here for sentence by Judge Dixon. McAllister, Campbell and Death were each sentenced to 30 years' imprisonment at hard labor and Kerr to 15 years' imprisonment at hard labor.

These sentences were the maximum under the law in each case. McAllister, Campbell and Death were convicted of murder in the second degree.

Kerr pleaded guilty to complicity in the death of Jennie Boscheiter, but insisted he was not present when the girl was drugged and took no part in the actual crime.

Judge Dixon, in pronouncing sentence on Death, McAllister and Campbell, said that only through the leniency of the jury had they escaped hanging, and that they need not expect any leniency from him.

"It is true the sentence will destroy your lives," continued Judge Dixon solemnly, "it will obliterate any prospect of any future before you, and all because of the deeds you have committed. I can't make any distinction because of your earlier life, but I must sentence you for the crime you have committed. I trust the fearful consequences may lead the young women and men of Paterson to know that they cannot find happiness in vice. I therefore sentence you to 30 years at hard labor in the state prison."

Judge Dixon then ordered Kerr to stand up. The judge looked at the man sadly, and in a lowered tone said: "The evidence against you did not show that you were implicated in the murder of Jennie Boscheiter. In one aspect, however, your case is worse than that of the others. You were older and had more obligations.

You had a wife and children worthy of your devotion, but you disregarded them. You broke the ties that bound you to home; you drifted away from home and cast yourself upon the rocks of vice and crime."

Judge Dixon then adverted to the crime, which he described as a ghastly outrage, and referred to the victim, "poor Jennie Boscheiter, who did not deserve her fate." Then he added: "Gladly would I spare your relatives, but in the exercise of my official duties I cannot. I therefore sentence you to 15 years at hard labor in the state prison."

ST. PAUL PROMINENT.

Had a Strong Influence on the Stock Market, Tuesday—Movements in Some Other Stocks.

New York, Jan. 30.—The stock market was again dominated by St. Paul Tuesday, with some incidental disturbance from the erratic fluctuations of Steel and Wire. Prices moved somewhat narrowly and on a small volume of transactions in sympathy with them throughout the day. Southern Pacific was a notable exception to the general tendency of the market. It was bought largely all day, and in the late dealings rose an extreme 1½ to 47, carrying some other stocks, notably among the grangers and Pacifics, with it. But renewed weakness in the leaders carried prices, except for Southern Pacific, down again, leaving only a few insignificant net gains among the larger list of losses.

Mobile and Ohio made a very notable rise of 6½, accompanied by rumors of absorption or control by the Illinois Central. New York Central gained 2 points on very light transactions, and Manhattan and Leather showed signs of strength. American Express gained 4½ without any explanatory news. The opening break in St. Paul was violent, the stock dipping 4½ to 150 under the pressure of heavy blocks to sell. Later in the day it got up as high as 153 twice and wavered uncertainly between that and 151, closing with a net loss of 2½.

In Steel and Wire the low point was made at 39 soon after the opening, and the stock then rebounded to above 41 before the announcement was given out that the promised statement would be withheld until about 3 p. m., instead of being published about 11 o'clock. During the afternoon the stock got as high as 41½, but closed at a net loss of 3½. The prevailing state of mind of speculators in the stock was evidently one of entire uncertainty as to the effect the statement would have upon holders and the uncertainty is likely to continue, as no action has been taken on the actual question of the dividend. The congested and uneven character of the trading is indicated by the fact that not a single share of such a usually active stock as Sugar was sold until well into the second hour of trading, and the first sale of Tennessee Coal was recorded after 1 o'clock. A considerable export of gold on Thursday is assured and already $1,500,000 have been spoken in a tentative manner at the assay office.

The railroad bond market continued moderately active, with an irregular movement of prices. Total sales, par value, $3,855,000.

United States 3s and new 4s advanced ¼ per cent on the last call.

SOME EVENTS IN BRIEF.

Smallpox has been discovered in a Polish boarding house at Youngstown, O.

James Cross, aged 19, committed suicide by shooting near Belington, W. Va.

Count Tolstoi, the eminent Russian novelist and social reformer, is again seriously ill.

The Russian field marshal, Count Gourko, died on his estate at Schawrow, near Iver.

The plant of the Indianapolis Sun, an evening paper, was damaged by fire. Loss, $30,000.

At Greene, O., Fred Vaughan, 23 years old and single, shot himself in the head and will die.

At Madrid the cession of Sibutu and Cagayan de Jolo islands to the United States has been gazetted.

At Des Moines, Iowa, a disastrous fire in the city's business portion entailed a loss of perhaps $500,000.

David Rush Barnes, while trying to board a train at Lancaster, near Chambersburg, Pa., fell and was ground to pieces.

Six members of the Kittanning, Pa., court of the Order of Foresters were partly overcome by gas in their lodge room during a meeting.

A 6-year-old son of Mrs. Joseph Garden, of East Huntington township, Westmoreland county, died of burns accidentally received.

At Niagara Falls the first ice bridge of the season has formed and appears to be very strong and of permanent character, constantly increasing in extent.

A passenger locomotive was derailed and wrecked at Coal Run, near Grafton, W. Va. Mail Clerk W. T. Lilly and Baggage man James Keckman were severely hurt.

Lilian, Duchess of Marlborough, of England, gave £1,000 to the Dorking Cottage hospital in memory of her husband, the late Lord William Beresford. She was at one time Mrs. Hammersley, of New York.

At Jackson, Miss., in the circuit court, Contractor Gibson, of Indiana, on trial for an alleged attempt to bribe Governor Longino in the awarding of capitol contracts, withdrew his plea of not guilty and entered a plea of guilty.

The power to order a general strike or suspension of labor in the mines was taken out of the hands of the national officers of the United Mine Workers of America, who have heretofore had absolute control in this particular, at Indianapolis.

Orders were issued relieving General Wade and General William Ludlow from their present duties and directing both officers to proceed to San Francisco in time to sail on the first transport from that port after March 1. General Wade, who is now in command of the department of Dakota, is to be temporarily succeeded by Major General Otis.

The president sent a message to congress renewing his recommendation of last session that congress make "gracious provision for indemnity to the families" of the two victims of the Tallulah, La., lynching, July 20, 1899, who were subjects of the Italian government. The message was accompanied by a report made by the secretary of state.

An important and interesting summary of what has been achieved by the United States in the direction of opening up and extending our markets abroad is presented in a letter from Secretary Hay, which was laid before congress, accompanying the annual publication known as "Commercial relation of the United States with foreign countries," being a collection of the reports of consuls for 1900.

The Venango county, Pa., grand jury dismissed the libel suit brought against Lewis Emery, Jr., and Delevan Emery by Colonel P. C. Boyle, editor of the Oil City Derrick. The suit was the outgrowth of an exchange of personalities during the state campaign last fall. It had been previously ignored by the McKean county grand jury. The costs were placed on Colonel Boyle in both cases.

Frank Fisher, who recently sold his girl wife for 50 cents, was drowned in the Delaware river, near Easton, Pa. Fisher went to Phillipsburg to purchase stolen scrap iron, it is alleged, and was apprehended by Detective Northern, of the Pennsylvania railroad. Fisher got away and ran for Easton. Finding the approach to the bridge cut off, he plunged into the icy waters and was swimming across the river when he was seized with cramps and drowned.

MRS. GALLUP MOURNS

A SIGN WARNS HER THAT HER TIME HAS ABOUT COME.

So Between Sobs She Has a Little One Sided Talk With Her Devoted Husband About the House and the Things That Are In It.

[Copyright, 1900, by C. B. Lewis.]

When supper had been concluded, Mr. Gallup sat down to read a pamphlet descriptive of the Wiggins washing machine, and Mrs. Gallup flung a shawl over her head and ran over to a neighbor's to give warning that the chicken pox had broken out in a town only ten miles away and would probably sweep the whole country before it could be staid. It was hardly a quarter of an hour before she returned, and her first action was to pitch forward on the lounge and roll over three times before she got settled down into a comfortable position to do some weeping. Her conduct ought to have attracted immediate attention, but it didn't. Mr. Gallup was reading a declaration from the sole inventor and proprietor that the Wiggins washing machine had saved the public 1,000,000 pounds of soap in the last year, and the family clock might have stopped without his taking notice of it. When about 50 sobs and sighs and groans had failed to arouse him, Mrs. Gallup sat up and said:

"SHE BUST INTO TEARS."

"Samuel, you know I went over to see Mrs. Taylor. As she has 'leven children and is allus willin to lend me her flatirons, I thought it only right to tell her that the whole 'leven might be taken down with chicken pox any minit. I hadn't hardly got my mouth open before she bust into tears and put her arm around me. She wasn't cryin on account of the chicken pox, but on my account. I had bad news for her, but she had badder for me. Don't you want to know what it was?"

Mr. Gallup didn't. He was reading a testimonial from the wife of a governor that the Wiggins washer had brought joy to her household when everything else had failed, and he was deaf to the outside world. Mrs. Gallup waited a reasonable time for a reply and then said:

"The news she had to tell me, Samuel, was that I had but three days to live. If I hadn't gone over there she would have come over here, as she thought I ought to be makin ready. That's Mrs. Taylor all over. She's allus doin sunthin for other folks. You must remember when Saray Ann Spooner died? And you remember when Uncle Goodrich was hooked to death by a cow? Waal, Mrs. Taylor had warnin three days ahead that both of 'em was goin to perish. Her clock suddenly stopped with a whir-r-r, and both hands p'nted in a certain direction. At 5 o'clock this afternoon the clock stopped ag'in and the hands p'nted right toward our house. That meant me. In three days from now I'll be sailin around among the clouds."

Mr. Gallup didn't dispute it. He was reading that the Wiggins washer would do the work of ten women at the washboard, and he was giving the inventor credit for being a bigger man than P. T. Barnum or Dan Rice.

"I'm glad it's come, Samuel," continued Mrs. Gallup in more cheerful tones. "You know I hev bin expectin to die any minit for the last 25 years, and it has kinder kept me upset. You'll be glad, too, because you don't like the smell of camphor and mustard plasters around. You may feel a little lonesome for two or three days after I'm gone, but with playin checkers, goin to the debatin society and lookin around for a second wife you'll soon chirr up and git your appe-

tie back. I ain't goin to ask you who you shall take for your second wife, but before I go I want to talk with you about the house. Will you talk with me, Samuel?"

Mr. Gallup refused to commit himself. That Wiggins washer was being sold for $10 when other and inferior machines were foisted on the public at $15, and he was saying to himself that Wiggins ought to have the gratitude of the nation. Mrs. Gallup shed seven or eight tears, caught a sob between her teeth and went on:

"In the first place, the oven door to the stove needs a new hinge. It got broke seven years ago, but I have got along with it so as to save expense. Then the snout is broke off our two quart pitcher, and the handle is off the gallon jug. If I was goin to stay right along on earth, I shouldn't tell you that we ought to hev a new set of teaspoons or that there are three holes in the dishpan, but I'm goin fur, fur away, and your second wife won't put up with things as I hev. We are still sleepin on the same feather bed mother gave me when we was married, and the feathers ought to hev new tickin. If I was to live on, I could make the old sheets do fur a year more; but as it is, I guess you'll hev to buy at least two. You ought to hev some pillows too. Down cellar you'll find half a barrel of soft soap, two jars of peach pickles and six gallons of apple butter. I hope your second wife will be as careful of 'em as I hev bin. Many a time I hev wanted a peach pickle in the middle of the afternoon, but I wouldn't go down arter it and be a pig. Did I tell you about the cider vinegar, Samuel?"

Mr. Gallup was holding his breath over the statement that the Wiggins washer washed a shirt for the governor of Arizona in 13 seconds, and of course he didn't answer.

"The cider vinegar ain't no good, Samuel. It didn't work, and you might as well throw it away. Before you marry ag'in you ought to fix the leak in the roof, git a new pump for the well, whitewash the kitchen and buy a new mop handle. First wifes can git along most any way and make one mop last for 20 years, but second wifes begin to kick right away. I ain't tellin you these things because I'm jealous, Samuel, but because it's my duty as a dyin wife. I don't want you to hev to go huntin the house all over after I'm gone to find things. Remember, your dyin wife, who hain't asked you to buy her a hairpin for 17 years, tells you that you've got three shirts, four pairs of socks, five collars and two handkerchiefs in the bureau, and hangin up in the clothespress is two old suits and one old hat. In the top drawer of the bureau you'll find a piece of crape for your hat, and in the bottom drawer is some farewell verses I writ out a year ago. I don't owe none of the nayburs no tea or coffee or sugar, and none of 'em owes me anything. Now, that's all, and if you want to kiss me and say you're sorry I've got to go and hope I'll watch over you, why, then I'm ready."

She looked full at Mr. Gallup for the first time. His eyes were still glued to that pamphlet. It was stated that the Wiggins washer was so constructed that it could be attached to a potato slicer or an apple parer and no reader's interest could help but grow.

Mrs. Gallup waited 60 seconds for an answer, and then as none came she softly rose up and went out into the kitchen and began to get things ready for breakfast. She had been gone ten minutes when Mr. Gallup smiled. He didn't smile because he heard her singing a verse of "The Old Oaken Bucket," but because Mr. Wiggins finished his pamphlet with the declaration that no matter who wrote the poetry of America, he proposed to wash the shirts of the nation.

She Was Ahead.

Marjorie had just returned from a visit to the old homestead in Tennessee, where a colored nurse nearly 100 years old was still an inmate. It puzzled her that Chloe should be called "auntie" by her mother and the family, but at last she accepted the fact and did likewise. Her playmates, trooping in to welcome her home, began to enumerate their possessions acquired during her absence.

"I've got a black pony," crowed Charlie exultantly.

"I've got a new baby brother," cried Jessie.

"M'm! That's nothing; I've got two of 'em," retorted Fred.

Marjorie's eyes flashed. "Oh!" she cried. "I've got a heap more'n that; I've got an auntie as old as Mefusela and black as tar."—Leslie's Weekly.
